Inferno wrecks saddlery site

FIRE tore through the former home of an historic saddlery-maker in Walsall town centre, forcing residents and buildings evacuated.

Sixty firefighters tackled flames at Jabez Cliff and Co, in Lower Forster Street. The firm moved to Aldridge in 2009 and the crumbling building was earmarked to become a new £3 million health centre with two doctors' surgeries, a pharmacy and an optician.

Fire engulfed the ground, second and first floors of the 60m by 30m factory on Monday. A man was rescued by fire crews but did not need hospital treatment.

Eyes on Chernobyl

CHILDREN from radiation-blighted Chernobyl were given free eye examinations and glasses as part of a link-up with a Walsall optician.

Specsavers, in High Street, Brownhills, welcomed the 10 Ukrainian youngsters to the store in a trip organised by Chernobyl Children's Life Line.

Majority

The charity brings children to England each year in a bid to help them overcome some of the after-effects of the Chernobyl disaster of 1986, when a nuclear reactor caught fire.

Robina Sharif, store director at Specsavers in Brownhills, said corrective eyewear would make an enormous difference to the children's lives.

"This was the first year that we had the children come to the store and we were really looking forward to seeing them," she said.

"It is the least we can do to help them, as in their own country most of their families can't afford proper eye care.

"Access to eye care is something we take for granted in the UK, but unfortunately this is not the case for the majority of these children and they can be severely hampered."

BARGAIN RUSH AS STORE AXED

Paul and Joan Cummings, who spent just £6.92 on three bags of clothes

walsallchronicle@expressandstar.co.uk

HUNDREDS of shoppers crammed into Walsall's TJ Hughes on its final day of trading in a bid to hunt out the last of the store's bargains. Shoppers descended on Park Street from 10.30am on Sunday as prices on some were slashed by a massive 90 per cent.

Administrators Ernst & Young has shut the store with the loss of 41 jobs – one of 22 to close around the country – while they seek to sell off the remaining business, including 31 other TJ Hughes stores.

Frantic shoppers search for bargains

Staff frantically manned tills on Sunday under pressure from bargain hunters piling into the store.

Shelves were barren, with the top floor closed, and a mismatch of items left in baskets at the end of what once were aisles for customers to dig through.

Grandmother

The entire rear half of the shop had been plundered by shoppers, who had seen prices cuts from 30 per cent off early last week to a whopping 90 per cent off yesterday.

Joan Cummings and husband Paul, a lorry driver, from Rowley Street, Walsall, unearthed three bags full of deals, including jeans, ladies tops, and make up, all for £6.92.

Mrs Cummings, a grandmother, said: "It was crazy in there, people were just putting stuff in bags without even looking at the sizes."

Gemma Tindill, a 24-year-old nurse from Terret Close, in Bloxwich, left with skirts, shorts, trousers, a jacket and 10 pieces of costume jewellery, including rings and necklaces for just £11.

She said: "I felt sorry for the staff at TJ Hughes."

Youth injured as theft cuts power to homes

POLICE warned this week of the dangers of stealing electrical cable following a serious incident during which a 16-year-old youth was injured and a large area of Walsall was blacked out.

Officers were called to reports of a loud bang and the sound of screaming near a canal bridge on Livingstone Road, Bloxwich at 11pm on Monday. On arrival, they discovered damage to a power cable above the canal.

Urgency

A short time later three males presented themselves at hospital. One of them, a 16-year-old boy, had suffered injuries which it is believed he had sustained during this incident. The other two men, both aged 21, were arrested on suspicion of theft and a scrap metal van was seized. They were still in custody the next day.

Acting Chief Inspector Paul Farley, of Walsall police, said: "It is clear from looking at the scene that someone had attempted to saw through a live electric cable. Aside from the fact that it is clearly illegal, there is a real danger of death for anyone who attempts to commit this type of offence.

"As well as the personal risks of injury and prosecution, there are also implications for the wider community as we saw."

Peter Lowe, security risk manager for Western Power Distribution, said: "We are too often shocked at the lengths thieves will go to in attempting steal cable from the electricity network."

"The potential gain from the theft is so low compared to the ultimate risks people take, and no consideration is given to the suffering they cause to the wider community through the loss of electricity supplies."

Anyone with any information about this incident or metal theft in general is urged to call police on 0345 113 5000 or speak to the Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Land sell-off may pay for £2.6m library

APPLICATIONS for planning permission for six parcels of land to be sold off to fund the new Bentley Library in Walsall have been submitted, it has been revealed.

A new £2.6 million library is due to be built on land off Queen Elizabeth Avenue subject to planning permission.

Council chiefs have now re-iterated their commitment to the scheme.

It is hoped the new library, for which designs have already been drawn up and selected, could be part funded through the sale of land owned by Walsall Housing Group and Walsall Council.

The land in question is at King Charles Avenue, Kent Road, Churchill Road, Wilkes Avenue, Berkley Close, the former clinic in Churchill Road and the Old Hall public house in Churchill Road.

Achieved

Leisure chief Councillor Anthony Harris said: "We've been standing shoulder to shoulder with the residents in Bentley to help secure a new building that residents will be proud of."

"The totally unforeseen economic downturn caused by the banking crisis has been devastating for this project."

"We had hoped that the six parcels of land could be sold for development several years ago but that's just not the case."

"What we've now done is look to secure planning permission for development. If this can be achieved, would-be developers would have a lot more confidence that the land could be developed."

Man accused on stolen X-Boxes

A MAN accused of handling more than £1,200 worth of stolen electronic games has appeared in court.

Craig Neary, aged 38, faced one charge of receiving stolen goods, including X-Box consoles, valued at £1,250 belonging to Amanda Hayward, from Darlaston, on December 21 by video link at Walsall Magistrates Court. The defendant, of Heathfield Lane, Darlaston, denies the charge.

Neary was remanded in custody until September 9.

Football fans accused

TWO Darlaston men were among seven Albion fans who appeared in court charged with violent disorder at a Great Bridge pub.

Nathan Painter, 22, of Moxley Road, and James Steven John Wiles, 24, of Broadwaters Road, appeared before Sandwell Magistrates.

The charges relate to a brawl at the Tamebridge, in Tame Road, on February 20 after the Premier League match between Wolves and Albion.

Also in the dock last week were Shaun Lyndon Bennett, aged 33, of Fountain Lane, Coseley, Stephen Cox, 34, of Whitley Crescent, Rowley Regis, Jason Richard Harris, 40, of Abbey Close, Tantany, West Bromwich, Neil Craig Sutura, aged 34, of Radford Lane, Wolverhampton, and Ricky Dean Wright, 30, of Arthur Street, West Bromwich.

All seven indicated not guilty pleas and were ordered to appear at Wolverhampton Crown Court on September 13.

Jodie proves she can cut it

A TRAINEE hairdresser from Willenhall has proved she is a cut above the rest by passing her course with flying colours.

Jodie Burgess, aged 18, has passed her National Vocational Qualification level two course in hairdressing. Preparation to attain the work-based certificate started on the first day of duties at Montys Hair Salon, in Great Bridge, three years ago when she arrived as an apprentice.

A former pupil at St Thomas More Catholic Business College, in Willen-hall, she said working in the high street salon was a dream come true. "I've been working here since I left school. I've always wanted to be a hairdresser. I love it here," Jodie said. "I like colouring the most. I would like to specialise in colouring, it takes a lot of work, training and extra courses."

"I joined as an apprentice and trained on the job. Saks hair academy used to come in and give me one-to-one tuition every six weeks and my boss Susan Hodgson gives me a session once a week."

Old leisure centre fails to attract developers

ONLY one bid has been made for the doomed Willenhall Leisure Centre despite a last-ditch appeal to save the building.

No expressions of interest were received within a five-week time frame, but council bosses decided to allow an 11th hour bid.

Walsall's regeneration boss said last week that the lack of interest was disappointing and if no acceptable solution was found, the Bath Street building would be flattened.

The leisure centre closed down in August last year as part of council cost-cutting measures.

Councillor Adrian Andrew, cabinet member for regeneration, said: "In terms of people who showed an interest before the deadline on August 5 at midday, there were no official tenders. "There was one that came just after the deadline closed, so we decided to accept that rather than dismissing it completely."

Proposal

"As a council we have exhausted every opportunity to try to save the site. Whether people have looked at the site and then decided against it I don't know, but it is disappointing."

The local authority will look at the bid that has been received in the coming weeks. If a proposal is deemed suitable would-be developers would be given 21 weeks to apply for planning permission, if required.

Documents detailing the type of development that would be suitable – including a cinema, offices, health clinic and creche – have already been drawn up.

The building had originally been earmarked for demolition costing £200,000, but was then put on the market in a last-ditch effort to save it.

Fears have been raised that the sale of the building was being jeopardised by metal thieves repeatedly plundering it. The centre was closed after being revealed as one of the worst performing in the borough.

Council looking for bright ideas

TOWNSFOLK in Walsall have been urged to have their say on plans to light up the landmarks of the town centre as part of a new £116,000 scheme.

Under the proposals, attractions such as the Waterfront development would be highlighted by markers in the pavements and statues such as the concrete hippo would be illuminated.

Council bosses teamed up with Walsall College and The New Art Gallery on the project and residents can have a say on the features to be included.

Funding has come from agreements with private developers, given permission to build in the town. To comment on plans call 01922 652537.

Blood donor day

VOLUNTEERS are invited to donate blood in Walsall next Friday, August 25.

The Community Centre in Station Road, Pelsall, will be open between 2pm and 4pm, and again from 5-7pm. Attendance by appointment is urged on 0300 123 23 23.

Shamed postal staff who plundered mail

THEY were entrusted with the delivery of Her Majesty's mail – but instead hoarded thousands of Christmas gifts, birthday cards and cheques bound for expectant homes throughout the Midlands.

Stupidity, curiosity, incompetence and greed were blamed for their indiscretions when the eight postal workers convicted of breaching the trust of employers and customers appeared in court this year.

Just one was jailed for their deception, along with an immigrant who secured a job as a postman despite a lengthy criminal record for dishonesty – and went on to steal while off-duty.

Peter Webb plundered jewellery, mobile phones, DVDs and greetings cards from mail meant for residents in Lichfield over four years. The 55-year-old was finally snared when Post Office investigators planted test packages on his round.

When one, containing a digital camera, was not delivered, Webb's home in Leyfields was searched and packets dating back to 2006 were discovered. Last week Judge Mark Eades jailed Webb for eight months, telling him he had "breached the contract the Post Office has with the public that a package will be delivered."

Damaged

Webb told his employers he had "been an idiot", while his lawyer Mr Rashad Mohammed said he had acted out of "curiosity".

The same excuse was offered by the counsel of Bilston postman Benjamin Bryan. He was told he had damaged trust in the Royal Mail after he was convicted of hiding more than 9,000 items of mail and opened packages containing electrical items.

Bryan was caught after bosses placed a tracking device inside a test package he was due to deliver which they traced back to the 23-year-old's home in Addenbroke Street, Darlaston.

Police recovered a Sony Walkman and touch tablet computer worth hundreds of pounds following searches of Bryan's home and car. But Judge John Wait opted to suspend Bryan's six-month prison sentence for 18 months.

Deon McFarlane was fined £600 after being spotted opening a letter during one of his rounds. Investiga-

Walsall's Benjamin Bryan got a six-month prison sentence, suspended for 18 months, for hiding 9,000 items of mail tors later discovered undelivered mail in his kitchen drawer.

The 33-year-old, of Junction Road, Stow Heath, denied theft and delaying postal packets but was found guilty by magistrates following a trial last month.

Both Shaun Maley and Hannah Moore-Kelly worked for the Royal Mail for a matter of weeks before bosses' suspicions were aroused. Maley, 21, was rumoured two months after starting in February while Moore-Kelly, also 21, lasted just six weeks.

The pair hoarded thousands of items, recovered from Maley's car and Moore-Kelly's home.

Maley, of Fuchsia Drive, Pendeford, but who worked in Halesowen, was struggling to keep up with his deliveries, the court heard. And Bilston-based postwoman Moore-Kelly, of Wells Road, Penn, was "out of her depth", her lawyer claimed.

Dudley postman David Spiers didn't even bother taking some of his undelivered post home – instead, he dumped thousands of letters near Dudley Zoo.

Plundering

The 31-year-old, of Park Moor Gardens, Dudley, was given a six-month sentence, suspended for two years, for dumping 6,385 letters and keeping another 4,654 items at his home.

Glen Miller was a trusted veteran of 23 years' service. But the 44-year-old, of Scaffell Way, West Bromwich, succumbed to temptation, stealing £40 after opening 18 packages.

Miller, said to be suffering financial difficulties due to the break-up of his marriage, received a four-month prison term, suspended for two years, at Wolverhampton Crown Court.

Glen Miller stole £40 after opening 18 packages. Four-month jail term suspended for two years

Marc Lawson was given the same sentence after plundering cash and gifts sent to Stafford delivery office. The 33-year-old, of Blythe Road, Stafford, stole hundreds of gift cards as well as DVDs and packages.

District Judge Wilkinson had some strong words for the Royal Mail after sitting in the case of Zydrunas Ksonas. The native Lithuanian was taken on despite having 26 previous convictions for dishonesty. The 44-year-old was hauled before the courts on two charges of theft.

Ksonas, of Leicester Street, Whitmore Reans, Wolverhampton, was jailed for eight weeks.

District Judge Wilkinson said: "A person as dishonest as Mr Ksonas should not be working with Royal Mail when there is an ongoing problem of things going missing."

Ruth Barnes, of Royal Mail, which employs 163,000 workers nationwide, said bosses had a "zero tolerance approach to dishonesty."

Hall price up to £3m

THE asking price for a derelict mansion near Walsall has rocketed by more than a third.

Grade II-listed Great Barr Hall had been put up for sale with a £2.2 million price tag but is now back on the market for more than £3m after a deal to sell to a mystery buyer fell through.

The 12-bedroom hall has been returned to the market by Buckinghamshire agents Van Weenan.

A spokesman said the increase reflected the value of the land included.

Campaigners want the 18th century house, which dates back to the 18th century and was once owned by the Scott family to be preserved and the 50-acre estate to be kept free of development.

Plans to convert pub

A FORMER pub in Darlaston which has become a magnet for yobs could be converted into flats under plans recently unveiled.

The Royal Exchange, in Wolverhampton Street, closed down some six months ago and has attracted anti-social behaviour from youths.

A plan has been submitted to convert the pub into apartments in a bid to crackdown on nuisance behaviour there.

A statement to council chiefs by agents Thorne Architecture said: "The applicant considers that the sooner the site is fully occupied the better in terms of eliminating the nuisance."

Under plans the building would be converted into four single-bedroom apartments and one two bed apartment. A cycle shelter would also be created and surrounding land would be landscaped with shrubs. One parking space will be provided per apartment.

Ex-teacher jailed over indecent images find

A FORMER teacher and church warden from Great Barr has been jailed for six months after he admitted possessing more than 860 indecent images of children.

Married IT and science teacher Robin Worrall worked at the former Dartmouth High School, now Q3 Academy, and at West Bromwich's George Salter Secondary School, now known as George Salter Collegiate Academy, before becoming a supply teacher in 1999.

There was no suggestion that any of the photographs are of children from the schools at which Worrall had taught.

The court heard he had also worked as a church warden at St Mark's Church in Smethwick, where he is a member of the congregation.

Obsession

At Wolverhampton Crown Court last week, Judge Jonathan Gosling heard Worrall had developed an interest in pornography over the last 10 years which led him to use his credit card to buy incident images of children as young as 13 and view them on his home computer. Police found 862 images of children, with more than 600 at "level one" and more than 250 at the more serious "level two" on a five-point scale.

He was also found with almost 100 pornographic images involving animals. Placing him on the sex offenders register for seven years, Judge Gosling told Worrall the "revolting" images were his "dirty secret".

He said: "Parents of the children you were trusted access to would have been horrified had they known of your obsession."

With his family in the public gallery, Worrall, of Smethwick, was disqualified from working with children for life.

Weight loss offer for townsfolk

WALSALL residents can sign up to a new weight loss programme in the borough.

The Evolve programme will run at Oak Park and Bloxwich leisure centres. Sessions start at the end of September and are aimed at helping people make realistic changes in their lives.

Leisure chief Councillor Anthony Harris said: "This is about encouraging people to make very minor alterations to their lifestyle which can have a long-lasting impact on health and fitness."

The 12-week programme costs £40 which must be paid in advance or £3.50 a session. Men with a body mass index over 30 can attend for free.

Oak Park Leisure Centre is in Lichfield Road, Walsall Wood, while Bloxwich Leisure Centre is in High Street.

Wounding charge

A MAN accused of assaulting a woman in Walsall has appeared in court.

Mark Reid, aged 45, faced two counts of wounding, two counts of assault and robbery against Gail Anderson. The alleged incidents happened between June 1 and August 3.

Reid, of Forester Street, Walsall, made no bail application at magistrates court and the case was sent to Wolverhampton Crown Court on October 28.

Suspect car wash on £1m homes site

AN UNAUTHORISED car wash has opened up on the site of a former Walsall pub which is earmarked to become one of the borough's biggest and most expensive homes, says the council.

The business is running from the Three Crowns car park in Sutton Road where plans to convert it to a luxurious six-bedroom house and build three other £1 million properties have been submitted to councillors. Ten car washes suspected of being illegal are under investigation by Walsall Council.

Bosses have vowed to crack down on unauthorised businesses set up without planning permission and are now due to consider enforcement action to close the Sutton Road site.

Discussed

David Elsworth, head of planning and building control, said: "The car wash at the former Three Crowns site is operating without planning permission and officers are preparing a report for the planning committee."

Moves for the residential development of the main route, which links Walsall to Pheasey, are due to be discussed by the planning committee next month. A previous attempt to transform the empty pub and build another four £1 million mansions around it was rejected by the council last year.

Lights repair bill reaches £18,000

ALMOST £18,000 has been spent fixing a set of traffic lights in Walsall that have become a magnet for vandals.

The lights at Station Road, Rushall, were attacked twice and even stolen last month. Council chiefs urged members of the public to report any vandalism, as it was revealed the latest bill for damage was £2,000.

Transport boss Tom Ansell said: "The vandals caused so much damage that the wires, which have 240 volts of electricity running through them, were left exposed. This posed a great danger to the public."

Since 2006, the council has spent £18,000 on repairs and residents still can't use the lights following the latest attack.

Accused couple deny harassing neighbours

walsallchronicle@expressandstar.co.uk

A HUSBAND and wife from Walsall have appeared in court accused of hurling abuse and threats at their neighbours over a period of more than 12 months.

Matthew and Carol Elmore are alleged to have harassed residents in Gypsy Lane. The couple appeared together at Walsall Magistrates Court on August 9.

Dressed in jeans and a hooded jacket, Matthew Elmore, aged 36, of Gypsy Lane, Willenhall, denied a charge of harassment against him. His 37-year-old wife also pleaded not guilty to the same charge. Indira Sharma, prosecuting, said the alleged offences spanned more than a year. "The victims say they have been harassed in a number of ways, threatened by the defendants and their families, and suffered torrents of abuse and harassment by them," Ms Sharma said.

Panel

"The abuse has gone on for some time, and as a result they have had to install CCTV by Walsall Housing Group."

Ms Sharma told the magistrates that the alleged threats of violence spanned a 21-month period from September 2009 until June 2011. The prosecutor also said the case was suitable to be tried at the magistrates court before a panel of justices.

The Elmores are due to appear at the court next Wednesday, August 24, to fix a date for trial. They were released on conditional bail.

Legal advice may lead to mast removal

ENFORCEMENT action is being taken to pull down a phone mast in Pheasey which Walsall Council says was put up using a legal loophole.

Fresh legal advice has been sought after the mast was put up at the junction of Waverley Avenue and Beacon Road by Vodafone and O2, despite planning permission being turned down in January.

Tim Johnson, Walsall Council executive director for regeneration, said: "We have taken a fresh look at this matter with another leading QC and we've concluded that there are legal grounds for us to take enforcement action."

"That's exactly what we are now doing. We were disappointed when Vodafone and O2 disregarded the views of residents and the council to build the mast. This shows we are taking this matter very seriously."

The decision to refuse planning permission was posted on the council's website and sent to the company 11 days before the 56-day required period for a decision.

But both phone companies denied receiving the notice of refusal in time and have put up the mast under "permitted development".

Brutal duo sentenced to 20 months in jail

TWO thugs who punched a man up to 20 times after he left a Sikh temple have been locked up for 20 months. A court heard the savage beating handed out to Jaspal Singh was unprovoked.

After a drinking spree Desmond Quinn, 21, of Willenhall, and Craig Platt, aged 25, kicked the victim and hit him with a hand held massage device, Wolverhampton Crown Court was told.

The brutal duo had targeted him as he walked home across open space in Villiers Street, Wolverhampton, after worshipping at a nearby temple, said Cathlyn Orchard, prosecuting.

Miss Orchard said Mr Singh needed hospital treatment to facial injuries.

Platt, of Parkfields, Wolverhampton, and Quinn, of Huntington Road, New Invention, admitted assault causing actual bodily harm and were sentenced by Judge Martin Walsh who told them: "This man had the misfortune of encountering the two of you who were responsible for entirely unprovoked violence. It was a sustained attack on a vulnerable victim in a public place involving the use of a weapon."

Accused couple – Matthew Elmore and Carol Ann Elmore from Willenhall

Hospital system is commended

HEALTH bosses in Walsall have been commended for the discharge system used on the Manor Hospital's children's ward.

The new, quicker way of discharging young patients creates more time to focus on those who are unwell.

The ward round system, in which consultants visit all the patients in the paediatric ward, has been changed so that those who are well enough to go home are seen in a new 8am ward round. As a result, beds are freed up and medical staff can concentrate on poorly children still in hospital, who are seen during the formal ward round at 9.30am.

The system won third place in the Innovation category of the British Journal of Nursing Awards.

Kathryn Halford, associate director of nursing from Walsall Healthcare NHS Trust, said: "Providing the best possible patient care at Walsall Healthcare NHS Trust is our absolute focus. The introduction of an earlier ward round at 8am means children who are fit to leave the hospital can be dealt with quickly."

Red route fines net £14,000

THOUSANDS of pounds in fines have been raked in by Walsall and Sandwell councils from motorists who have flouted red route restrictions.

Over a 12-month period, drivers have forked out more than £14,000 for parking or stopping on double red lines in the two neighbouring boroughs, based on calculations that each of the 402 drivers paid the minimum £35 penalty charge. However, the true cost is likely to be much higher as drivers who do not pay within 14 days must pay double that amount.

In Walsall 106 penalty charge notices were handed out. The penalties carry a £70 fee, however, if paid within two weeks, that is reduced to £35.

The councils say it is impossible to calculate exactly how much was collected as some fines would have been appealed and some may be outstanding.

Warning on charity collection

A CONCERNED Walsall resident is warning others of a possible charity bag scam in the area.

The resident, of Birmingham Road, who did not wish to be named, said he recently received a bag appealing for donations for 'Help Mates Ltd' - a Third World clothing collector.

After becoming suspicious he took his concerns to the internet where he discovered a host of warnings about the "bogus charity", which claims the goods collected are sold on for personal profit.

Contact

He said: "There is no official charity number on the bag which made me research the name. I was shocked at discovering it could be a scam and felt others need to be told of this terrible act."

Walsall Trading Standards

has urged anyone with any concerns to get in touch with them directly.

Councillor Zahid Ali, cabinet member for communities and partnerships said: "Some are genuine charities, some are commercial and others are scams. We would advise householders to contact Consumer Direct on 08454 04 05 06 if they have concerns about advertising material they receive."

Scheme offers aid with housing

A NEW scheme to help Walsall residents downsizing and move house has been drawn up.

People are being offered help to move into smaller properties better suited to their needs. Walsall Council has worked with Walsall Housing Group and other housing associations to create the scheme.

It means larger properties that become vacant will then be used to rehouse families which are struggling in overcrowded conditions. It has already helped 46 people who wanted a smaller home, while helping 45 families move to a larger property.

Stress

Regeneration chief Councillor Adrian Andrew said: "There are many older people in Walsall who are finding themselves in a property that is too big for their needs."

"Many tenants would like to downsize their property but don't know how to go about it, and don't want the stress that comes with it."

"This scheme takes away this stress."

Anyone who wants to downsize can call Helen Brooks at Walsall Housing Group on 0300 555 6666. Anyone renting a property who feels overcrowded should call Charlotte Brittain on the same number.

Man with drugs and gun is jailed for five years

A GREAT Barr man has been jailed for five years for a firearms offence after being betrayed by the smell of cannabis in his car

A police patrol noticed the distinctive odour as they passed a Ford Focus travelling in the opposite direction. The officers turned round and stopped the vehicle being driven by 22-year-old Nigier Smith in Wellington Road, Bilston, Wolverhampton Crown Court heard.

Mark Phillips, prosecuting, said: "They had gone to investigate after catching a waft of cannabis and it seemed to them that he was under the influence of drugs."

"Smith put his head in his hands when they asked what was in a small bag that was in the car. It held seven rocks of crack cocaine."

Passenger

The discovery prompted a thorough search of the Focus that revealed a set of scales and several bags of skunk cannabis worth a total of £136 in the glove compartment and boot, the court heard.

Further examination revealed a zip bag hidden in a rear footwell. It contained a Browning pistol built to fire blanks that had been converted to use live ammunition, and a magazine with three bullets.

Smith, of Kingsdown Avenue, Great Barr, admitted possessing a firearm and ammunition and crack cocaine, and having cannabis with intent to supply.

Car passenger Dominic Jones, 22, of Baltimore Road, Hamstead, admitted possessing cannabis and having the drug with intent to supply. He was jailed for 18 months.

Ex-Walsall player accused of rape

A FORMER Walsall FC player is to appear in court tomorrow (Friday) accused of raping a woman at a hotel.

Clayton McDonald, aged 22, is charged with an offence at the Premier Inn, Rhuddlan, Denbighshire, north Wales, on May 30.

The former Saddlers defender, now with Port Vale, was jointly accused with Sheffield United's Ched Evans, and Prestatyn magistrates sent the pair to appear at Mold Crown Court.

No pleas were taken at the magistrates court hearing on August 7.

New call for changes to busy commuter line

walsallchronicle@expressandstar.co.uk

TRANSPORT bosses have called for changes to a busy train line between Walsall and Rugeley to stop the proposed loss of two rush-hour services used by hundreds of commuters daily.

The 6.21am Rugeley to Birmingham and 7.39am Hednesford to Birmingham - both travelling through Cannock and Walsall - face being axed as part of a shake-up on the Chase Line.

But West Midlands transport authority Centro said transforming the route between Walsall and Rugeley into an electric line would allow more trains to travel along it and remove the need for a reduction in services.

Grower of skunk cannabis given eight months

A MAN found growing 24 skunk cannabis plants in Walsall home has been jailed for eight months.

Gary Shaw, aged 38, claimed the drugs were for his own use when his house in Pommel Close was raided.

Ten of the plants were four weeks from maturity and would have produced 130g of cannabis with a street value of more than £1,500, Wolverhampton Crown Court heard.

They were being kept in a cupboard under the stairs, said Mr Howard Searle, prosecuting. The other 14 plants were immature, he said.

Intention

Shaw, now of Wellington Road, Handsworth, admitted producing cannabis but insisted there was no intention to sell the drug.

Charmjit Jutter, defending, said Shaw had been smoking cannabis for 17 years and wanted to kick his habit. "He started using it to relax himself and it went from there."

Shaw had a 16-month sentence in 2002 for importing 10kg of cannabis at Manchester Airport.

Judge Jonathan Gosling told him: "There is increasing concern about the amount of cannabis that is being cultivated at people's homes."

Centro's Steve Swingle said: "We have been actively pressing Network Rail for the electrification of this line which would bring a number of benefits."

"At the moment the line is electrified from Birmingham to Walsall but not from Walsall to Rugeley, meaning only diesel trains can operate north of Walsall. This means a mixed fleet of electric and diesel trains is required."

"If the whole line was electrified then only one fleet of electric units, of which enough trains are available, would be required and London Midland would not need to reduce services."

Train operator London Midland said no final decisions had yet been made and it was still in the consultation period.

Chances

Under the plans, the 6.21am and the 7.39am would be replaced with two new services leaving Rugeley at 5.55am and 8.06am. Five diesel trains would then be relocated elsewhere in the Midlands to bolster other services.

A recent survey revealed a third of passengers on some Chase Line trains already have to stand. Currently there are eight morning departures going from Hednesford and Cannock to the city centre before 9am. The loss of the 07.39 from Hednesford to Birmingham would leave a 36-minute gap.

Network Rail said it was in talks with both Centro and London Midland about electrification but the chances were slim.

Spokesman Keith Lumley said: "On a number of occasions we have looked at the possibility of electrifying this line. However, in simple terms the electrification does not meet the value for money criteria set for us by the Department for Transport. Having said that we, Centro and London Midland will have further talks."

Dinner with music

A CABARET dinner with music from The Drippers will take place at Banks's Stadium, Walsall, on October 15.

Tickets at £30 with a four-course meal or £18 for the show only are available by calling 01922 651414 or 414416.

In swing for top honours

Calderfields Golf and Country Club getting the GolfMark high achiever status and Sports England Clubmark

A GOLF club in Aldridge has been honoured with two awards for its standards.

Calderfields Golf and Country Club, in Aldridge Road, has achieved the GolfMark high achiever status and the Sports England Clubmark.

High achiever status acknowledges high standards in coaching and playing, club environment and child protection - and goes to great lengths to encourage and develop its young members.

To achieve a Sports England Clubmark it had to show quality in playing, management, knowing the club and community, and protecting children and young people.

Juniors organiser Graham Jackson said: "We are elated after a lot of hard work."

Secretary, 70, wins sacking claim

A WALSALL firm of solicitors has been ordered to pay a 70-year-old legal secretary more than £20,000 after sending her a letter following an illness stating that her work had dried up and she should "enjoy a golden retirement".

Pam Shea, of Sutton Coldfield, told Birmingham Employment Tribunal that she had been shocked by the letter.

Mrs Shea made compensation claims against Edmunds & Co of Bradford Street, Walsall, for age discrimination, breach of contract and unfair dismissal. The firm, which was not represented at last week's hearing, had told her she had been involved in a redundancy situation, the tribunal was told.

Ms Del Priore, representing Mrs Shea, alleged that her client had been unfairly dismissed to save the firm costs.

Penalty

"She had been employed for 11 years, was trusted and well organised."

Ms Priore accused the firm of unreasonable behaviour after two previous hearings had to be adjourned.

"Now they have failed to attend the third hearing," she said.

Tribunal judge Mrs Vera Jones agreed that Mrs Shea had been unfairly dismissed. She said her breach of contract claim was successful, but dismissed her age discrimination claim.

Mrs Jones awarded Mrs Shea, of Sutton Coldfield, a total of just over £20,000 which included £11,235 for unfair dismissal, plus a 25 per cent penalty increase.

This was because the firm failed to carry out the proper dismissal procedure, she said.

Fruit growers on alert after thefts

FRUIT bushes at a Walsall allotment site have been stripped by thieves - and there are fears they could strike again.

Blackberry, blackcurrant, gooseberry, white currant and strawberry crops have all been stolen in a spate of thefts since July at the Slaters Lane site in Pleck.

Richard Stynes, secretary of West Walsall Leisure Gardens which operates the site, said allotment holders were devastated but warned more thefts may follow as apple and plum trees become ripe.

He is asking residents and traders to be on the lookout in case the fruit is being sold in the area and to report any suspicious behaviour to police. Mr Stynes said: "As soon as the fruit has ripened it is being pinched."

"We can't get over it, it's been so blatant. Some trees are around seven years old and mature. You would mind if a few go, but they have been stripped bare. We have put signs up warning there is a thief about."

Enrolment days at college

A SUMMER recruitment drive to encourage people to sign up for courses at Walsall Adult and Community College is now under way.

Throughout this month, adverts are being placed on the sides of 30 buses as part of efforts to encourage residents to boost their learning.

The 'You Deserve' promotion aims to get people signed up for the academic year in September. The college runs hundreds of part-time and full-time courses from its main campuses in Hawbush Road, Bloxwich and Weston Street, Walsall.

They are also held at a further 40 venues across the borough each term and range from ICT and business courses to sports and fitness.

Enrolment days will begin on September 3.

Farewell to 'Forgotten Army' jungle war veteran

TRIBUTES have been paid to a member of the 'Forgotten Army' who fought the Japanese invaders in Burma. Ted Williams has died aged 88 after battling prostate cancer for many years.

Son-in-law Keith Wyke said: "He was a very optimistic guy who always looked on the bright side. He was very sociable and his jokes were legendary."

"If you went into Walsall town centre today and asked 'do you know Ted Williams?', it wouldn't be too long before you found someone who did.

"He was very popular."

Grandchildren

Mr Williams was born in Darlaston in 1922 and enlisted aged 17 in 1939. He was sent to Burma in 1941, where he encountered the Japanese enemy and engaged in often bloody combat.

Speaking to schoolchildren last year,

Mr Williams recalled: "We hardly had any water because the Japanese would poison all the pools."

"We learned where to cut bamboo to get water from the shoots."

"One Japanese officer ran out of the bushes at me with his sword above his head and cut me. 'He's not having my arm', I thought, so I stuck my bayonet in him. It was the first time I had to do it."

The term 'Forgotten Army' is believed to have been coined by the commander of the 14th Army, Lieut Gen Bill Slim, because of the lack of media attention given to the Burma campaign.

On his return from war Mr Williams joined the TA and began work as a crane driver at Rubery Owen, in Wednesbury. He married his sweetheart Gladys and they had six children.

The funeral, attended by standard bearers from the Royal British Legion, took place last week at St Mark's Church, Tipton, near his home.

Verdict on substances in gardens is due soon

FAMILIES will soon find out whether land on a Black Country housing estate will be classed as contaminated, as final test results are scrutinised.

Decisions will be made shortly on the homes in Willenhall, ending a two-year wait for residents.

Homes in Kemble Close, Brookthorpe Drive and Osbridge Drive were found to contain traces of heavy metals, tars and a gas-manufacturing by-product known as Blue Billy.

The homes were built on the site of the former Willenhall Town Gas Works which shut down in the 1960s, and 89 gardens have been found to contain the substances. Consultants from Walsall Council have reviewed the results of final tests carried out on the estate, and the information is being used to make decisions on which gardens to categorize as contaminated.

Complex

Officers at the authority have previously said declaring the land as contaminated is a complex process, but an important step in making sure the site is cleaned up properly.

Councillor Tom Ansell, cabinet member for transport and environment, said: "We've reviewed the results from testing of gardens in the area and this information is being used to help us decide which properties will need to be classed as contaminated."

"The council has been in contact with residents who are likely to be affected to confirm their contact and land ownership details. This information is necessary to make sure that all with an interest or responsibility for the land are notified of the outcome of the investigation."

The homes were built on the site in the 1970s, and it is believed the area was not properly cleared.

Residents in properties where the substances were found were told not to eat vegetables grown in their gardens, and to always use gloves when weeding. They were also told not to build extensions on their homes while investigations were carried out.

Roof at flats is set to be replaced

INVESTMENT from WHG will see the roof of a 1960s block of flats in Walsall replaced.

Scaffolding has been put up around the three-storey block in Penkridge Close, Birchills.

The new roof will improve the insulation of the block and could help drive down customer fuel bills. The exterior of the block will also benefit from partial thermal insulation.

Work is being carried out by WHG construction partner Wates and will cost around £60,000. It is part of a rolling programme to replace the roofs of WHG's blocks of flats over the coming years.

Fuchsia gathering

SUTTON Coldfield Fuchsia Society will meet on September 8 at 8pm.

Pat Rogers and Gordon Winters will lead a discussion on Over Wintering Fuchsias. The competition for the month is "A Spray of Berries".

On Saturday, it is the Sutton Coldfield Fuchsia Society Annual Show.

Energy firm is looking for great ideas

A WALSALL energy project is in with a chance to win a cut of a £500,000 fund in a national competition linked to the television show River Cottage.

Pelsall-based group Green Energy now wants residents and community groups from across the borough to get on board with good ideas after it was selected from more than 1,000 entries for the second stage of the Energysure competition.

It involves an idea for a scheme incorporating a food garden which would result in generating free fuel which could benefit the community in the future.

Precedent

The initial proposal to find free energy sources to generate an income for communities was put forward by group organiser Danielle Jeaynes. It has now made it to the final 100 groups.

"The long-term aim will be that the community of the town will be striving towards a better quality of life, health and wellbeing. It will set a precedent for others," Ms Jeaynes said.

The group is aiming to attract supporters from across the borough.

More details about Walsall's Green Energy project are on the www.ener-gyshare.com/green-energy website.

Fun and frolics at Banks's Stadium

SUMMER fun will be on offer at Walsall FC's next home game on Saturday.

A family fun day will be held as Saddlers face up to fellow League One side Yeovil Town.

An inflatable slide, bouncy castle, music, entertainment and free face painting will be on offer, as well as treats from Cadbury's.

A special ticket offer is also in place, with one adult and up to two juniors able to attend for £10.

Festivities start at around 12.30pm at the Banks's Stadium, off Bescot Crescent. Call the ticket office on 01922 651414 to book tickets.

Group seeking volunteers

A HERITAGE group in Walsall has appealed for volunteers to help out with events at its general meeting.

The Willenhall Heritage Trust and the Lock Museum Friends Group had their meeting last week at Bellamy House in Wilkes Street.

They said to run activities during the school holidays, volunteers are needed. An open day will be held on August 25 between 10.30am and 1pm at the Lock-

Athletes on track at summer camp

A SUMMER athletics camp for youngsters is due to run in Walsall next week.

The Star Track Summer Athletics Camp is being organised at St Francis of Assisi Catholic Technology College in Erdington Road, Aldridge, from Monday to Friday, August 22-26.

Children aged eight to 14 can join in from 9am and 1pm for £9 per day, or £38 for the week. Call 01902 605500 for details.

smith's House in New Road, to drum up support. Senior curator at the Black Country Living Museum Jo Moody was also introduced at the general meeting and talked about the changes and responsibilities at the museum.

Stan Taylor, chairman of the friends group, said: "The meeting applauded Jo Moody for her efforts and we were all very pleased to see the programme of activities that are being developed."

walsallchronicle@expressandstar.co.uk

A PATCH of derelict land in Walsall will be given new life after a decade of fly-tipping plans to build 22 homes. Long-suffering householders living near vacant land between Castle Street and The Green in Darlaston have put up with the eyesore for years.

An unnamed developer secured approval from Walsall Council to build homes on the land two years ago, but the project stalled as the company battled with the tough economic climate.

The firm has now applied to tweak the plans and get on with the scheme and Councillor Bill Madeley, of Bentley & North Darlaston ward, said: "I'm all in favour of this development. It has been an area that has not been used for quite a few years."

"Environmental health has been cleaning it up over the years. I would like work to start as soon as possible because people are fed up with it."

"They were expecting the place to be developed some time ago."

"I'm really pleased – and I'm pleased for the people in the area who have wanted it cleared up."

Consent

Councillor Madeley added that some foundations had been laid, and he had been pushing for more information about the project from council bosses, so he was delighted to hear it was finally moving forward.

The 22 flats will be built in three-storey blocks on the land.

The developer has applied for consent to use the top storey of each block for another room with roof lights, and for dry bricks to be used for the roof verge.

Agent John Mason, representing the firm in the planning process, said in the application: "The proposed change to roof detail will overcome the long term maintenance concerns, resulting in a development that will retain its appearance over time rather than becoming neglected."

New community shop set to open

A COMMUNITY education and activity service in Walsall is poised to open its own shop next week to generate funds.

Blowwich Community Partnership will launch the charity shop New 2 Meat at Blakenall Community Centre, Blakenall Row. The opening is on Monday.

It will stock, among other things, books, DVDs, bric-a-brac, toys, puzzles, clothing and jewellery.

The grand opening event will be between 10am and 1pm.

Dancers in step for the top

Dancers Emma Woolley, aged 18, and Francesca Kennedy who is 11

Two aspiring ballerinas at a Walsall dance school were top of the class with their graceful pirouettes.

Francesca Kennedy, aged 11, and Emma Woolley, 18, both from Walsall Dance Academy, scored high marks in recent exams. Francesca's excellent score for her grade five ballet examination netted her a scholarship nomination by the International Dance Teachers' Association.

The pupil at St Francis of Assisi Catholic Technology College, Aldridge, will now attend a national audition to for a cash bursary to go towards tuition costs at the Butts Street academy. Emma, a trainee dance tutor, scored 88 per cent in both of her teachers' exams. She has just completed a course at Walsall College and from next month will attend Coventry University to study for a dance degree.

New units for town retailers

ALDRIDGE High Street is set to receive a boost with the creation of four fully serviced retail units designed to attract smaller independent retailers into the area.

Landlord Gerry Leighton says he is keen to see the type of business that is currently missing from the High Street moving in to the premises.

He says: "It could be shoes, interior design, wedding cakes, books, designer clothes or hardware. I don't know exactly, but I am keen to support a thriving local shopping centre by bringing complementary businesses on to the High Street."

Mr Leighton, who has lived and worked in Aldridge for 25 years, is an enthusiastic advocate for the area and a member of the Aldridge Village Business Partnership.

He says: "We're aiming to make it easier for either new or existing retailers to get up and running."

"There will be a facilities management charge, but it means the businesses will have a reduced capital outlay at the start. We're also happy to be flexible on the lease, depending on the requirements of different kinds of shop."

"The important thing is to keep the High Street alive."

Anyone interested in the units can contact Mr Leighton on sales@tfuk.net or 01922 453932.

Academy bids for expansion

Machete left by arsonist

AN ARSONIST set fire to a sofa at a house in Willenhall - and left a machete behind at the scene.

The setttee was set alight at a home in Worcester Road, Willenhall, just before 10pm on August 9.

Firefighters from Willenhall and Walsall remained at the scene until 1.20am the following day.

Willenhall Crew Commander Andy Williams said there was "substantial damage". He said the arsonist had tried but failed to set fire to a pillow in the bedroom and then attacked it with the machete.

The matter is now being dealt with by West Midlands Police. Anyone with information can call 0345 113 5000 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

A WALSALL primary school which was the first of its kind in the Black Country to become an academy is bidding to expand its buildings.

Many of the classrooms at Park Hall Infant Academy are said to be undersized, a report has revealed.

Plans have now been submitted to Walsall Council to expand the buildings of the school in Park Hall Road.

School bosses are hoping to add a single storey side and rear extension to walsallchronicle

@expressandstar.co.uk
replace existing temporary classrooms.

Existing temporary classrooms would be demolished following the work.

Reception

A report submitted to planners on behalf of the school says: "Many of the existing classroom areas are undersized and the academy is reliant upon the use of two temporary classroom areas which are in a poor condition and are inaccessible by wheelchair.

"The existing academy has three Year 1 classrooms and three Year 2 classrooms ranging between 43.6 sq metres and 50.4 sq metres in size.

"Each of these classrooms is classified as being undersized."

The school has 180 pupils in total from reception to Year 2.

The expansion would not see an increase in the number of pupils at the school.

Mary returns half winnings

walsallchronicle
@expressandstar.co.uk

A GENEROUS pensioner has handed back half of her raffle winnings – £2,500 – to St Giles Hospice.

Mary Bate scooped £5,000 on the St Giles summer raffle and made the selfless donation as a thank you to the care her husband Alan received from the hospice six years ago.

Alan, an ex-ambulance paramedic in Cannock, was cared for by the hospice for three weeks before he died from asbestosis in 2005, aged 74.

Her gesture was labelled as "incredibly generous" by the hospice, but Mary thought nothing of giving up 50 per cent of her jackpot.

"I knew that I wanted to give half of it back to the hospice," the 70-year-old said.

"Alan was in the hospice for three weeks and the care he received there was marvellous.

Dreamed

"He was the type of person who would have done anything for anyone, so it was comforting to see him being cared for by people who had the same attitude. From then on I decided I'd always do whatever I could to support St Giles."

Mary regularly bought tickets for the hospice's biannual bumper raffle, but said she never dreamed of scooping the £5,000 jackpot.

"It's the first time I have won anything and I'm still deciding what to do with the rest of the money."

Richard Simmonite, commercial manager of the hospice lottery, said: "I would like to congratulate Mary and thank her for her kind donation, which was an incredibly generous gesture."

Messy event at church

THE next messy church event at St Matthew's Church in Walsall will be on Saturday, October 1.

Storytelling, crafts, games and food will be on offer in the hall in St Matthew's Close. Messy church is held quarterly, and the activities run from 4pm to 6pm.

A week long summer holiday club was held at the church centre in July to cater for five to 11-year-olds.

Man, 27, jailed for cannabis in motor

A WALSALL man has been jailed for 13 months after he was twice caught carrying illegal substances in cars.

Shafiq Karim, aged 27, admitted possessing cannabis worth £1,400 with intent to supply. Karim, of Willenhall Road, Darlaston, also admitted possessing cocaine and cannabis.

Helena Miller, prosecuting, said Karim was caught with cannabis after being stopped in a near his home.

She said: "Officers smelled cannabis and the defendant handed over seven bags and a small wrap of white powder from under the passenger visor of the Mondeo."

Miss Miller said Karim had been bailed to return to a police station for that offence but had failed to do so, leading officers to pull him over again, this time in a Renault Clio.

Weighing

She said: "Again there was a smell of cannabis and police found 15 bags. They also found keys for two vehicles parked nearby. In them were more than 70 bags of cannabis." Police also found bags of cannabis in Karim's house, which he told officers he allowed another dealer to use to prepare drugs.

He told officers the drugs in his possession were largely for his own use but admitted sometimes supplying cannabis to family and friends.

Defending, Mr John Evans said: "He was a heavy user of cannabis and had an association with a drug dealer. He became bound up in the cannabis world."

Mayor's super show draws in the crowds

WITH thrills and spills courtesy of a rip-roaring monster truck, breath-taking motorbike stunts, steam traction engines, historic fairground rides, and Pat Collins latest fairground rides, Walsall Town Show turned out to be an unmissable feast of fun for all ages.

Shire and Clydesdale horses, a beach, musical organs and a mobile illusionist and his beautiful assistant performing amazing feats of magic, plus fairground models and a nature exhibition and rabbit show as well as dozens of charity and other stalls, certainly gave teeming crowds of townsfolk and tourists alike two days to remember.

Music from the uniquely talented Eligh Toadd, a Black Country prog rock band, also kept feet tapping and hands clapping at the performance tent.

The Mayor of Walsall, Councillor Garry Perry, opened the show, which ran at Walsall Arboretum from 10am-6pm last Saturday and Sunday, August 12-13.

Weather

Councillor Perry and the Mayoress, Mrs June Perry, stayed throughout to meet members of the public and promote the 2011-12 Mayor's Charity Appeal.

Walsall Town Show is now in its third year and was organised once again by Councillor Anthony Harris and his family, who run Pat Collins Fun Fair.

They resurrected the much-missed Walsall Town Show in 2009 to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the birth of the "King of Showmen", Pat Collins, a fairground and cinema mogul with a nationwide empire centred in Bloxwich in the first half of the 20th century.

Many hundreds of people who packed out the Arboretum Extension over the two days were only too delighted that the event is now a regular date – and a firm favourite in Walsall's calendar.

Councillor Harris said: "We had the world-famous Van Buren Outdoor Variety Show making an appearance, live music, shire horses, the RSPB and the many usual displays of traction engines, stalls and rides."

"The 2009 show was fantastic and the whole of Walsall Arboretum was buzzing. Last year, we reckon we attracted hundreds of people, despite heavy downpours on the Saturday. We hope the 2011 show was the best yet and we certainly pulled out all the stops to make it one to remember."

The Mayor said: "Everyone has told us what a great weekend it is. We're raising money for my chosen charities and enjoyed greeting visitors."

The Mayor's Charity Appeal is fundraising for three causes: The Creating Chances Trust, The Swing and PROUD (Parents Relatives and Others Understanding Down's Syndrome).

With admission just £3 for all and free car parking in the beautiful setting of the town's premier park, coupled with great summer weather, Walsall Town Show offered a great family weekend affordable by all – just what was needed to help cheer up Walsall folk in difficult times.

It certainly delivered on its promise.

Bus campaign joy

Valerie Vaz MP, left, celebrates with residents Doreen Laban, Julie Bosley and other campaigners at a 38 stop

A WALSALL MP visited the people of Darlaston to join in their celebrations of better bus links to the Manor Hospital.

Furious residents had signed a petition that was sent to the House of Commons following the axing of the 639 bus. The service has now been reinstated and renumbered the 38, running from Wednesbury to Walsall via Darlaston, Kings Hill and the hospital every 20 minutes. Walsall South MP Valerie Vaz, who backed the petition, visited the area to catch up.

"Following the withdrawal of the 639 service residents of Kings Hill had to catch a combination of three buses to get to Walsall Manor Hospital," she said. "I am sure that the reintroduction of the route 38 will make life much easier for many residents."

walsallchronicle@expressandstar.co.uk
A MAN who attacked a house guest with a samurai sword after a boozy party in Walsall has been jailed.

David Tapper, aged 26, of Tasker Street, Walsall, fetched the weapon from his bedroom to attack 6ft 9in Dean Davenport, Wolverhampton Crown Court heard.

The court was told that Tapper, who pleaded guilty to unlawful wounding, had asked Mr Davenport to leave after he had made unwanted advances towards a teenage girl, but refused to do so.

Tapper fetched the weapon, brandished the two-foot sword above his head and sliced the side Mr Davenport's head.

Sending the father of two to prison for 10 months, Judge Jonathan Gosling told Tapper he had risked the life of the man he attacked.

Teenage

He said: "Anyone who arms himself with a ferocious weapon such as this has to go to prison. It was two feet long and weighed more than a kilogram. I am surprised you could lift it to this very large man's head. It was reckless in the extreme and a very dangerous act."

Earlier, prosecutor Mr Glyn Samuel said the incident had arisen out of a party at Tapper's house in Tasker Street where he, Mr Davenport and two teenage girls had spent the evening.

He said: "The defendant sent a text to Dean Davenport inviting him round and the people at the house had been drinking. After the defendant asked Mr Davenport to leave he did not do so and then Mr Tapper took the sword from a stand in the window. He held it in front of him and swung it so it hit him on the head."

"It caused a 7cm wide and long gash using the tip of the sword."

Home plans extension

A CARE home has applied extend its Willenhall site to include four extra bedrooms.

Inglewood Residential Home, in Banks Street, has applied for planning permission for a single storey side and rear extension and a two-storey side and rear extension.

Plans for an extension to the premises lodged with the council were withdrawn due to concerns of overdevelopment. A revised application was submitted last month.

Free barbecue for residents

A FREE barbecue will be held at Ryders Hayes Park in Pelsall tomorrow, from 6pm until 8pm.

Teenagers and residents in the area are invited to the event, organised by Walsall Council and Brownhills, Pelsall, Rushall & Shelfield Area Partnership, which aims is to build positive relationships with young people.

Attacks on council workers increasing

walsallchronicle@expressandstar.co.uk

MORE than 500 Walsall Council staff reported physical or verbal abuse in the last year and more than 150 suffered slips and trips, a report has revealed.

Both figures are up on last year and most departments reported a rise in violence.

Incidents ranged from swearing at council officers and abusive phone calls, to people in care hitting out at staff. There were also reports of council workers being hit by moving objects such as falling mop handles, dropped tools and even by opening or closing doors and gates.

The authority's annual health and safety performance report for 2010/11 revealed staff made 541 reports of violent incidents and 162 reports concerning slips and trips. The figures showed an increase from the previous year which stood at 460 violent incident reports and 140 reports of slips and trips.

In the report, senior safety advisor for Walsall Council, David Kempson, said: "Most of our directorates have experienced an increase in violent incidents and these are actively monitored at safety committee meetings each quarter."

The report also revealed there had been 72 reports of staff being hit by moving objects in 2010/11, while 32 staff reported fixed objects hitting them.

Accidents

The total number of accidents reported across Walsall Council's services, excluding schools, for the period was 532 - up 16 per cent on the year before.

But Mr Kempson said the number was still "very small" considering the number of staff employed and the number of work locations.

Figures collected by Walsall Children's Services Sero, which manages the borough's schools, found there had been 474 employee incidents in schools in 2010/11.

The council said all accidents were reviewed and work had been undertaken over the past couple of years to update the authority's incident reporting policy.

Councillor Chris Towe, council cabinet member for finance and personnel, said: "We have put a lot of effort into encouraging employees to report incidents, so it could be that more people are reporting them."

Saddlers sign up college

Teaming up, from left, Walsall Adult and Community College marketing manager Karen Donoghue, PA to principal Becky Greenwood, and WFC commercial manager Roy Whalley, at Banks's Stadium

WALSALL FC have unveiled their latest signing - the borough's adult and community college.

The college, which has more than 8,000 students on its roll, are the official matchday programme sponsors for the 2011/12 season.

Maria Gilling, principal of Walsall Adult & Community College, said it was a match made in heaven.

"We're delighted to be unveiled as the matchday programme sponsors of Walsall FC. This is the very first time the club has offered this exciting opportunity, having never had another organisation or its logo appearing throughout its 68-page official matchday programme. To be the first, is an excellent coup for us."

The college will also appear on the club's website, which attracts more than 30,000 visitors each month.

Walsall FC's commercial director, Roy Whalley said: "We regard this as being a very important commercial and community relationship."

Man, 20, in court over dog death

A FAMILY pet had to be put down after suffering a "sustained beating" by a Bloxwich man during an attack which lasted at least an hour, a court was told.

Seven-year-old Staffordshire bull terrier Molly had a fractured left femur, bruising to both eyes and suffered a haemorrhage at a flat in Circuit Close, Willenhall - injuries which led to her being put down. Wilson originally denied two counts of causing unnecessary suffering and two of not ensuring its welfare.

Adjourned

The 20-year-old, of Shugborough Close, changed his plea and admitted the offences ahead of a trial at Walsall Magistrates Court.

Molly belonged to Moira Harris, mother of Wilson's then girlfriend, Shona, and moved in with the couple to keep her company while Wilson worked nights. The next day he was left alone with the pet, which was found with blood around its head. Magistrates adjourned sentencing until August 24 with all sentencing options including prison.

Free fun day for charities

PEOPLE in Walsall are invited to a fun day in Pelsall featuring face painting and bouncy castles.

Ness Common will host the event on August 30, from 11am until 4pm. It will also include rides, inflatables, charity stalls, Punch and Judy, music, face painting and storytelling. Walsall Council's parks team has arranged the free event.

All proceeds will go to the Mayor's Charity Appeal.

Supermarket closure brings 36 job losses

A SUPERMARKET in the heart of Willenhall is to close with the loss of 36 jobs. Somerfield, in New Road, is being axed by the national supermarket chain due to "poor trading performance" after three rivals opened nearby.

The store shuts on September 8 and bosses say they will try to redeploy staff.

Helen Seed, for owners The Co-operative

walsallchronicle@expressandstar.co.uk

Group, said: "It is not in any way a reflection on the commitment and hard work of the store team."

"The Somerfield store on New Road, Willenhall, is due to close on September 8."

"The decision has been taken with the greatest reluctance and every effort will be made to redeploy as many as possible of the nine full time and 27 part time staff with The Co-operative or to help them find alternative employment."

The Co-op bought the Somerfield chain in 2009 in a deal worth £1.57 billion.

Prior to becoming a Somerfield, the Willenhall store traded as Gateway.

Standing

Calls have already been made for the prominent building not to be left standing empty on one of the main roads through the town.

Willenhall South ward's Councillor Carl Creaney said: "I think it was probably hard for the store to compete with the new Morrisons and a Tesco up the road as well as a big Lidl in the same street. "But it's a big building and it can't be left standing empty."

"We need to see what we can do to find out who owns the building."

Plans approved

AN UNNAMED developer is to build a shop with accommodation above it in High Street, Pelsall, under plans sent to Walsall Council.

Police hurt in crash

A police car damaged in a crash in Walsall Wood

TWO police officers were taken to hospital after their patrol car crashed.

Their vehicle collided with a Hyundai close to the Baron's Court Hotel last Tuesday afternoon, August 9, and the road had to be closed.

The officers were taken to Walsall Manor Hospital with minor injuries, but a woman and a child in the Hyundai were uninjured.

On the same morning at about 8.30am, a woman was taken to hospital with a leg injury after two cars crashed in Bosty Lane, Aldridge.

Classic motors get fans into top gear

walsallchronicle@expressandstar.co.uk

ALMOST 3,000 enthusiasts got into top gear for the annual Classic Car and Transport Show at Walsall Arboretum Extension.

About 400 cars, motorbikes and buses were on display at the event, the 21st hosted by Walsall-based show organisers Linda and Geoff Price, of Transtar Promotions.

Fans feasted their eyes on exhibits including a 1952 Daimler bus which used to carry passengers around West Bromwich, a Ford dating back to 1921, and a 1960 BSA Super Rocket.

Interest

The overall show winner on August 7 was a 1928 Austin Chummy owned by Trevor Pawcett, of Burntwood, and a 1959 Austin Healey Sprite was judged best classic sports car.

Healey owner Andy Elkington, aged 46, of Park Hall, Walsall said: "There was a lot of interest in the car and I do try to attend most of the Transtar shows to display it."

Graham Harper, left, Desmond Southgate, Dave Wootton, Howard Carter and Martin Clarke have been busy getting a 1952 Daimler bus which used to work out of West Bromwich back on the road.

Mike turns back pages of history for new book

Images of Walsall over the past 100 years have been captured in the pages of a new illustrated book by museum curator Mike Glasston which is attracting plenty of interest from local history fans.

Walsall Through Time aims to highlight some of the key locations and changes in the town – some dramatic and some slight – over the past century.

Mr Glasston, curator at Walsall Leather Museum, said: "The scale of change in Walsall means that many of the earlier scenes for example the upper High Street and Digbeth are unrecognisable now, although some views have changed remarkably little."

"What has been particularly pleasing is that a lot of people have been saying how good Walsall looks."

Busiest

Among the buildings featured in the book are the George Hotel, the Olde Woolpack pub and Her Majesty's Theatre which have all now disappeared from the landscape of the borough.

walsallchronicle

Other existing buildings such as The Crossing and The Guildhall are included.

Readers can also see how one of Walsall town centre's busiest areas, The Bridge, looked back in 1910.

Mr Glasston often gives talks on historical items from Walsall's past and has written a series of books.

The book costs £14.99 and is available at the Leather Museum, in Littleton Street West; the Local History Centre in Essex Street and Waterstones in Park Street, Walsall.

Shop and pubs burglary charges

A WALSALL man has appeared in court and denied burglary of three pubs and a shop.

Daniel Billiard, aged 25, of Wolverhampton Road, Pelsall, is charged with burglary at party shop Sweet and Fancy, in Park Road, Bloxwich, and with burglary at pubs including the Romping Cat, in Elmore Green Road.

He was remanded in custody at Walsall Magistrates' Court and the case was adjourned until Friday, September 16 for committal to crown court.

Firefighter Neil's now an Iron Man

Proud Neil Parsons with his Iron Man medal in Bolton

Back to work at Aldridge fire station for Neil

WALSALL fireman Neil Parsons has been crowned an Iron Man when he completed the gruelling Iron Man UK challenge in Bolton, Greater Manchester.

The weekend started with an evening pasta loading meal at the Reebok stadium, home of Bolton Wanderers FC.

The soccer club's Premier Lounge was transformed into a starry-lit sky that set the stage for an evening of celebrating alongside dozens of servicemen and women who had been wounded whilst serving their country.

Demanding

The story for each successful athlete was one of defying the odds.

It began when the cannon sounded at 6am on Sunday, July 31, and 1,269 competitors crossed the start line and plunged into open water to complete a two-loop, 2.4-mile swim at Pennington Flash Country Park in Leigh, on the outskirts of Wigan.

Athletes then rode 112 miles through beautiful, but demanding, countryside before embarking on the three-loop, 26.2 mile marathon run that ended by crossing the finishing line in front of Bolton Town Hall.

Neil works for West Midlands Fire & Rescue at Aldridge fire station.

New base for police meetings

POLICE officers who work from a satellite base in Walsall are being moved to a new site.

Pelsall neighbourhood policing team currently has the use of a community room at a Walsall Housing Group building in Trevor Road. But the base is being moved to a refurbished community room in Leyland Croft instead.

West Midlands Police rents three properties from the landlord for residents to report concerns about crime and anti-social behaviour.

Walsall Housing Group's head of housing services Gary Brookes said: "We work in partnership with West Midlands Police to strengthen communities and create safe neighbourhoods across Walsall."

Wedge widens the door into Europe

A WILLENHALL galvanising business has been given a multi-million-pound injection by Lloyds Bank to boost its stake in a German business.

BE Wedge Holdings has received £11.5 million to increase its stake in German firm Siegener Verzhinkerei Holding GmbH from 24 per cent to 49 per cent. The move enables Wedge to enhance its already strong presence across continental Europe.

Founded in Willenhall more than 140 years ago by John Wedge, BE Wedge is now the UK's largest hot dip galvanising group with a turnover of £95 million. It has a national network of 14 UK plants as well as interests in leading galvanising businesses across Europe and the United States.

The family-controlled firm says it has consistently followed a successful policy of expansion, both in the UK and abroad. BE Wedge currently has a 30 per cent share of the UK galvanising market and this latest move to increase its international investment will boost the company's profits earned in the European market.

Chris Pennick, a relationship director at Lloyds Bank Corporate Markets in the West Midlands, said: "BE Wedge is a prime example of a long-standing Black Country business which has grown and developed with the times."

BE Wedge financial director Jon Parsons said: "Although our roots remain very much in the West Midlands, we are committed to driving growth through international as well as UK investment. This funding from Lloyds Bank Corporate Markets has enabled us to increase our stake in Siegener Verzhinkerei Holding – a successful business and one of the largest galvanising groups in Germany, which also has affiliated companies in the Czech Republic, Slovakia and Turkey."

Bosses vow to halt parking fine errors

BOSSES at Walsall's busiest retail park have promised to iron out the problems that have seen drivers wrongly issued with fines. Dozens of visitors to the Crown Wharf Shopping Park, off Wolverhampton Street, had been stung with £80 fines, despite paying, since a new system was introduced in May this year.

Drivers have to punch their registration number into a machine on arrival. It is believed the fines were sent out after full registration numbers were not entered correctly.

Now one hour of free parking has been scrapped and automatic number plate recognition technology introduced.

John Albany-Ward, at Munroe K Asset Management, which runs the shopping park, said: "Extra signs have been put up to make sure people know they have to pay and have to put their full registration number in."

"Anybody who has paid for the correct time will not be made to pay the fine."

"We are introducing a procedure which means if anyone has made a payment but has not entered their full registration properly, we will review it before a fine is automatically issued," he added.

A Walsall businessman says he is launching a campaign to fight the parking system, run by private firm

Parking Eye on behalf of the shopping park.

John Wadsworth, 66, of Streetly, has sought legal advice after being asked to pay £80. He claims drivers are confused by the changes.

Operators Parking Eye said: "The pay and display system at the Crown Wharf Shopping Park is designed to ensure all shoppers have fair access to car parking."

"The overwhelming majority of shoppers buy tickets without any problem. For those people who make a genuine error, we have a clear and fair appeals procedure."

"We abide by the British Parking Association Code of Conduct. More than 30 signs explain the pay and display system."

Damp squib as water feature is still to open

walsallchronicle@expressandstar.co.uk

WILLENHALL children have been missing out on summer fun due to delays in installing a new water feature in the town's park. New fountains and jets were to be switched on at Willenhall Memorial Park in time for the school holidays, but are not yet working, and parts of the play area are sealed off.

Walsall Council said work was being carried out on an electrical problem, but admitted it could take until next week to fix.

The new water attractions, along with a water play table, see-saw, roundabout and scramble slide are a £200,000 project.

Willenhall South's Councillor Diane Coughlan said children had been missing out during the sunshine.

"Summer is going to be over soon enough and the way things have gone so far it could be another few weeks before it is opened."

Scramble

Council chiefs say some of the equipment will need to be converted to work differently. The roundabout, scramble and slide unit in the younger children's play area also needs some adjustment, meaning part of the play area was closed off.

Leisure chief Councillor Anthony Harris said: "We are so sorry that the new jets and fountains are not working."

"The last thing we wanted to do was open up the features when it became obvious there was a problem as we would have had to keep disappointing people by repeatedly closing."

The water play area at Willenhall Memorial Park

Walk leader training

KEEN walkers can attend a training session to become a walk leader in Walsall.

Walsall's Walk On programme is looking for volunteers to lead weekly walks and training is taking place on August 26 at Willenhall Memorial Park.

Once trained, volunteers will be able to act as walk leader or back marker on any of the Walsall Walk On sessions.

Qualities needed include a passion for walking, good communication and organisational skills, a friendly personality, reliability and commitment. Leaders must be over 16. Once volunteers are trained, other opportunities such as first aid qualifications are available. For details, call 01902 605500.

Glyn Marston

Cruise can play me, says Glyn

A MARATHON athlete and charity fundraiser from Willenhall says is in talks with a film company over a movie of his life.

Glyn Marston's autobiography Thud, Sweat and Tears has ended up in the hands of a London-based independent film company.

Mr Marston's book features his personal battles including knee surgery, how he came to terms with epilepsy and the challenge of giving up cigarettes.

Decided

The 48-year-old, of New Invention, has run the length of Grand Canyon.

Father-of-two Mr Marston said: "It's exciting. They are just reading through the manuscripts, but it does make you dream about the possibilities."

He has not yet decided who should play him.

He said: "I don't know who would be best - maybe Tom Cruise?"

Free history event

EXHIBITS from history societies in Walsall will be on show at a free local history fair at Walsall Museum from 10.30am to 3.30pm on September 17.

Lake Garda

Pick of the week

PRICE FROM £429

ITALY has always been a favourite with British holidaymakers with its Mediterranean climate and friendly people who give you a genuinely warm welcome.

Lake Garda is the largest of all the Italian lakes, being some 30 miles long and 10 miles across at its widest point.

On the southern shores, vineyards and olive trees are in abundance, as are orange and lemon orchards, while in the north the Dolomite mountains form a breathtaking backdrop to the Lake, and the scenery is vastly different with sheltered bays, lakeside resorts and peaceful fishing villages.

Your accommodation will be in a minimum three-star standard hotel on Lake Garda with your resort and hotel confirmed with your tickets approximately seven days before departure.

Locally available optional excursions include a full day tour of Lake Garda, a Grand Dolomites tour and full day visits to Venice and Verona.

Price includes: return flights, return airport to hotel transfers, seven nights half-board accommodation and a free bar each day between 4pm and 7pm.

Voice of Mac is back

Stevie Nicks
- In Your Dreams

ONE of the most distinctive voices in rock, Nicks' nasal vibrato is a key element in the supergroup Fleetwood Mac, but her solo career – with the exception of Rooms On Fire – has seldom matched her promise.

New collaborator guitarist and former Eurythmics-turned-producer Dave Stewart has now coaxed a fine performance from the 63-year-old hippy rock chick. He provides the music to her lyrics, some autobiographical in a Mac-like way. Their duet Cheaper Than Free is one of the best tracks.

There is a country influence on the soft rock balladry, an avenue that could be further explored. Tribute New Orleans is well-intentioned but bland. The stark, folk-like Soldier's Angel is more effective. Highlights include the Californian pop of In Your Dreams, slow-burning sexy rocker Wide Sargasso Sea and the Kirsty MacColl-like bonus track My Heart.

Mac completists should note her bandmates Lindsey Buckingham and Mick Fleetwood contribute too.

Leon Burakowski

Foster The People
- Torches

INDIE-pop band Foster the People made a major splash with their single Pumped Up Kicks and their album offers more of the same light, indie fun with Helena Beats and Waste. The album is a definite listen for fans of MGMT and Black Kids but as the album progresses it moves towards lo-fi dance with Life on the Nickel and Miss You.

While the album is a summery, feel-good effort, it is hard to not start licking your lips at the prospect of what Foster the People could deliver on their 'difficult second album.' This is an excellent debut and a superb foundation to build on.

NEW ALBUMS

Stevie Nicks – her new album is a collaboration with Dave Stewart, formerly of The Eurythmics

Peggy Sue – Acrobats

THE second outing from Brighton-based indie-folk trio is a typically brooding affair. Cut My Teeth sets the scene perfectly but there are more grinding riffs and it twists from The XX to early Yeah Yeah Yeah's – an intriguing mix. By the time closers Shadows and There Always Was echo from the speakers there's a feeling of reaching the end of a journey, with Parking Meter Blues and Boxes highlights along the way.

Japanese Voyeurs

- Yolk

CLASSIC as alternative metal but throughout Yolk there are glints of all types of music, from grunge to pop, indie to metal, it's all in there.

Opener You're So Cool could be mistaken for Hole in their heyday, while thumping riffs in Cry Baby and Milk Teeth ensures it never strays too far away from metal.

Singer Romilly Alice will always have comparisons to Courtney Love but her voice rescues an album that could be a struggle without her easy-on-the-ears vocals.

Emmy The Great

- Virtue

EMMY The Great's second effort is as haunting as it is beautiful. It opens with the strangely titled Dinosaur Sex, but don't let that fool you, within minutes of listening it fills you with warmth as its strings wrap around you.

The rest of the album fails to live up to it, with Iris and Cassandra coming closest. As the pace picks up, the lyrics become more prominent. With hints of Laura Marling, the lyrics are the stand out aspect of this album, you may not be whistling the tunes but you will definitely be mulling over the meanings of each song.

Kitty, Daisy and Lewis
- Smoking In Heaven

A JOY of a summer album. Straight from the off, a mixture of reggae and soul means you can almost feel the warmth of the sun.

Don't Make A Fool Of Me shows the rockabilly influences while Baby Don't You Know About Me explains why Amy Winehouse was a fan.

The schizophrenic effects of such a broad range of influences begins to take its toll, especially on What Quid?, a seven minute jazz instrumental. The late Amy Winehouse's influence is wholly apparent throughout.

S.C.U.M

- Again Into Eyes

ART-ROCK quintet S.C.U.M have a mysterious, well-crafted sound. Thomas Cohen's vocals recall David Bowie and Interpol while electronic beats and crunching riffs provide the backdrop for this stunning debut. There are some truly euphoric moments hidden among the 10 tracks, most notably on Days Untrue. Lead single Amber Hands unveils a murkier underbelly to the album while Paris provides a heartfelt ballad.

Big Deal – Lights Out

THE latest boy/girl duo to unleash melodic indie-pop, Big Deal look set to make the niche their own. With a stripped back sound, beautiful double-edged vocals and brooding lyrics, Alice Costelloe and KC Underwood are a fresh sound. The chemistry between the pair is apparent on Chair and Swoon, while Homework is as pretty as it is stark.

Some of the homeware and garden furniture in stock at the new-look Wilkinson in Walsall's Quasar Centre

£50 vouchers for 10 lucky winners to spend in store

TO CELEBRATE the unveiling of a revamped Wilkinson store in the Quasar centre, Walsall, the home and garden retailer is offering 10 lucky Walsall Chronicle readers the chance to win £50-worth of vouchers to spend in store.

The Wilkinson store closed for refurbishment on August 3, and re-opened on August 4. Wilkinson's head of multi-channel, Simon Hathway, and store manager Carol Ballinger cut the ceremonial ribbon alongside special guests from Walsall Rugby Club, including the first team captain, Steve Halbert, and the director of rugby, Bob Harding.

A raffle for Wilkinson's charity of the year, Age UK, was hosted at the store and customers had the chance to win a hamper of Wilkinson "Back to School" essentials from the new seasonal range.

Wilkinson's has an extensive range of everyday essentials including, health & beauty, cleaning equipment, homewares and pick & mix, as well as affordable seasonal products such as sun cream and sunglasses.

Get the cool DJ look with these candy-coloured cans

RADIOPAQ Duo headphones offer a stylish set of cans for £19.99, easily as fashionable looking as phones more than twice the price thanks to a metal-look finish and the plush feel of the leather-look cushions.

The plastic phones cover your ears and also have a padded adjustable headband. Each cup is able to be tilted, swivelled and folded flat. That gives them a cool DJ look and, as with most DJ headphones, sound-wise they're a little heavy on the bass. A gold-plated 3.5mm connector provides optimal sound transfer from your source.

But this is a budget set of headphones, so provided you are not expecting super quality sound and are happy with just a decent, good-looking pair of cans, then these will do nicely. They also come in a nice range of four vibrant colours, high gloss copper, candy green, candy purple and metallic silver, plus good old fashioned black.

The Duo are available in store at Carphone Warehouse, ASDA, Argos, WHSmith and online at the www.radiopaqproducts.com website. LB

Device to combat pain

Painfree – an electromagnetic device for combat pain

PAINFREE is a rechargeable, totally portable gadget to deal with aches and pains.

Unlike a Tens machine which works by electrical nerve stimulation, this lightweight and sleek oval device uses electromagnetic technology which makers Snowden say is clinically-proven. Apparently this drug-free pain solution works by pulsing electromagnetic fields.

I was a little sceptical but it did have an instant impact on my back pain, reducing discomfort when placed near the area that hurt. However, the pain quickly returned after the device was moved away.

Used for longer periods the therapeutic effect works by releasing endorphins and serotonin to help the problem area, say Snowden.

Lanyard

They claim it works as long as it is within 12 inches of the body, so some users choose to wear in on a lanyard around their neck and Snowden say it can give relief in more than one area at once. It has high and low settings.

I did not use the device for long enough to give an opinion on this but using it for short periods I could feel some relief, though the device was certainly not as effective for me as prescribed painkillers. However, those determined to take a drug-free approach to fighting pain and who are prepared to pay £85.95 for the Painfree device, can find out more at www.snowdenhealthcare.com or by calling 08700 771 772. LB

Len takes a closer look at the engine

Lessons in steam... back in the 1970s when Len took one of his model engines on a visit to a school in Dudley

Jane and Len Crane with their lovingly restored 1902 Burrell Patent Engine and, inset, the same machine after an accident in 1939

A-traction for steam proves winning way

Len Crane was just a boy of 11 when his passion for steam engines was sparked.

"They say as you get older your toys get bigger," smiled the 78-year-old, who with wife Jane has been honoured with a lifetime achievement award recognising their contribution to the repair and preservation of engines.

The Wolverhampton couple met in 1953 through a mutual love of motorcycle racing and for 30 years, owned their own business, Leonard Crane Transport Ltd, in Tividale.

Mr Crane, who hails from Lanesfield, became interested in steam engines at 11 when he started building model steam engines. He is perhaps best known as the former chief engineer of the Bratch pumping station in Wombourne.

Celebrate

Even since his retirement in 2001 Mr Crane has continued to host open days at the attraction, welcoming hundreds of people from all over the country to view the engines he has lovingly restored.

It was his turn to travel when he and his wife, who celebrate their 57th wedding anniversary this year, went to Trinity House in London where they were awarded the Transport Trust award by Prince

Jane with the 1925 restored Marshall steam-roller that Len gave her for her 50th birthday

Michael of Kent. Speaking about the award, Mr Crane said he was delighted his wife – for so long a supportive presence on the sidelines – had been recognised.

"It was marvellous. Usually I win cups and trophies but it's always me who receives them, with Jane in the background," he said. "All of a sudden though, we receive a letter in April from the Transport Trust for a joint award."

Mrs Michael added: "We were so honoured. Prince Michael was absolutely charming and spoke to each of the award winners individually, about his own personal experiences on a steam boat. It's just so nice to receive the award – tea and rock buns are usually my recognised speciality."

Sixty-seven years since he set out to make his first model, Mr Crane has restored five engines, some of them weighing up to 400 tons and worth £250,000.

The couple can be found most nights at their yard in Wombourne, working on the engines.

For eight years, however, the only space available was an opening behind their garden hedge, working in what Mrs Crane described as "very inclement weather".

Fortunately, a corner of a unit in Wombourne was offered to them by personal friend John Wootton, who also organises the steam section of the West Park Show.

Mrs Crane continued: "I usually join Len in the afternoon in the yard to help, and we can be there until 9 or 10 some evenings."

Mr Crane has just completed nine years' work renovating Endurance, a 1902 Burrell Patent Engine that he found in Dorset. With his wife, he stripped it down and rebuilt it. It has been displayed at Wolverhampton's West Park, the Black Country Living Museum in Dudley, since then as well as last weekend's Walsall Town Show.

Mr Crane has, alongside his lifetime's work on steam engines, also won the Motocross British Championship twice.

He had just returned from two years' National Service with the Royal Engineers on the day of a motocross race. A 14-year-old Jane happened to stroll by as he was preparing, and offered to help.

Incredible

One date to the pictures, and 57 years of marriage later, they have one daughter and are still working to rebuild incredible feats of engineering.

His completed 1925 Marshall Steam roller was presented, adorned in ribbons, to his wife for her 50th birthday. In 2010 daughter Brigitte rode to her wedding on a huge 1928 Fowler Crane belonging to her father.

The classic vehicle is affectionately known by locals as the Wolverhampton Wanderer.

Seal of approval for leading window firm

DESPITE the shrinking economy, one local company has grown to become one of the leading manufacturers of uPVC windows, doors and conservatories in the West Midlands.

Energy seal, based in Planetary Road, Wednesfield, has a 20-strong workforce, all of whom strive to be the very best in the industry in all areas.

This dedication to quality begins with excellent manufacturing of their window system, through to excellent customer service.

Family-run

The company is a family-run business with two brothers, David and Richard Carter, at the helm. Director of sales, David, says: "We aim to give our customers the very best service the industry can offer."

"Through being involved directly with sales, we can develop a special relationship with customers the second their phone rings."

Then, when our customers become confident they are buying their windows, doors or conservatories off the right company, we then get the project underway.

"Starting with a free technical survey of the work being carried out, we then project-manage everything from that point on."

"In our conservatories range we have many different options for our customers."

"We provide the finished article, starting with the base, brickwork, erecting the uPVC frames and roof, right down to fitting electrics, tiling the floor and fitting vertical blinds.

"In our showroom, we have six full-sized conservatories fully-fitted with fixtures and fittings to show our customers exactly what they're buying."

"Energyseal is also looking to create more jobs in the local area."

Richard, trade director, adds: "When we started manufacturing, we had three employees. Three years on we now employ 10 fabricators, two fitting teams and six office staff."

"We are always looking to expand our business so we can create new jobs for local people. Because we offer such an excellent service, most of our work comes from recommendations so this gives us the opportunity to grow. We also supply to the trade industry."

"If you are interested in buying any of our extensive range of windows, doors or conservatories, call us on 01902 866000 and one of our friendly advisers will be happy to help with your enquiry."

"Alternatively, pop into our showroom for a free no obligation quote."

Customers can choose from a wide range of conservatories in the firm's showroom

This Wednesfield-based company strives for top quality at each stage of manufacturing

No strings attached

PINOCCHIO, the classic story of a puppet's quest to become a real boy, heads to The Public in West Bromwich on Friday, August 19.

Presented by Cube Theatre, the new adaptation by Ben Oldfield brings to life the captivating tale of the wooden puppet as he falls in with an assortment of colourful characters who try to lead him astray.

Family

The magical production is for all the family, particularly suitable for children aged from 4 to 11.

After the show, children will have an opportunity to meet the puppets.

The play will be performed at 2.30 and 4.30pm.

To watch a trailer of the production visit the website at www.thepublic.com.

Tickets are £6 adults, £4 children, a family ticket (one adult and two children) is £12. Call 0121 533 7161 for details.

Bottom is the tops

A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM, ROYAL SHAKESPEARE THEATRE

If you only go to one Shakespeare production in Stratford-upon-Avon this year, go to see A Midsummer Night's Dream.

There are several excellent productions in the Royal Shakespeare Company's 2011 repertoire but for sheer unabashed entertainment, director Nancy Meckler's interpretation of the Dream is a feel-good delight.

The ancient Athens in which the play is set has a 1960s London gangster look, as if Shakespeare had collaborated with Guy Ritchie. The men wear sharp suits and some of the women have beehive hair-dos in the style of the late Amy Winehouse.

Most of the characters adopt broad London accents, which thankfully does away with that tired old conceit of making the tradesmen Brummies.

The look becomes more magical in a surreal dream-like way when the action moves to a forest created from suspended chairs and the fairies come out to play, with gorgeous lighting by Wolfgang Gobb and vampiric hissing from a 'Brides of Dracula' fairy trio who accompany the fairy queen Titania.

Doubling their roles as the Duke of Athens Theseus/fairy king Oberon and the duke's Amazon bride Hippolyta/Titania, Jo Stone-Fewings and Pippa Nixon make a passionate warring couple. There is something about Stone-Fewings, his perfect clipped diction, his casual yet authoritative air, that demands attention.

In contrast, Arsher Ali as the sprite Puck lacks charisma or that dangerous hint of meddling menace. The audience warms to him but he fails to make full use of his lanky frame. His casual 'Puck seems perfunctory'.

At the core of the play are the two sets of lovers and how their affections are swopped by fairy magic. This causes utter confusion for poor put-upon Helena, who suspects all of mocking her. Bristling with energy, Lucy Briggs-Owen gives a brilliant performance, extremely funny and poignant (two parts Joyce Grenfell to one part Vanessa Redgrave), as the long-limbed spurned lover who finds herself pursued by lovesick youths. As her former friend, the petite Hermia, Matti Houghton very much lives up to the description: "though she be but little, she is fierce".

Their male suitors, good as they are, are eclipsed by these frenetic females. Nathaniel Martello-White as Lysander sometimes warbles his lines like a soul singer to woo Hermia and Alex Hassall as Demetrius goes from dour to amusingly daft, as a kung fu posing buffoon who has strayed from the Scott Pilgrim movie.

Laughter

I doubt the new-look Royal Shakespeare Theatre has before been rocked by so much laughter as when the "rude mechanicals", here portrayed as a bunch of odd job men, put on their disastrous play within a play 'The Tragedy of Pyramus and Thisbe'.

This is largely due to comic actor Marc Wootton, who memorably plays Nick Bottom as an over-bearing amateur thespian whose final performance is hamnier than a side of bacon.

In his transformation into an ass, it is more his grotesque walk and ear-splitting hee-haw than the bad-hair-day donkey ears and swinging salami sausage between his legs that suggests his monstrous makeover by the mischievous Puck.

The performance lasts nearly three hours and the time flies by thanks to Meckler's crowd-pleasing production. The Dream continues in repertoire at Stratford until November 5.

Fields in Pelsall, from Diane Brookes

This week's photographers are Sarah Yeomans, of Pelsall, Richard Stevens, of Rushall, Diane Brookes, of Goscote, and Roger Jones, of Walsall

Two photographs taken by Richard Stevens from the cycle path which runs between Station Road, Rushall, and Clayhanger Lane, Brownhills

A juvenile buzzard in Walsall Arboretum Extension, from Roger Jones

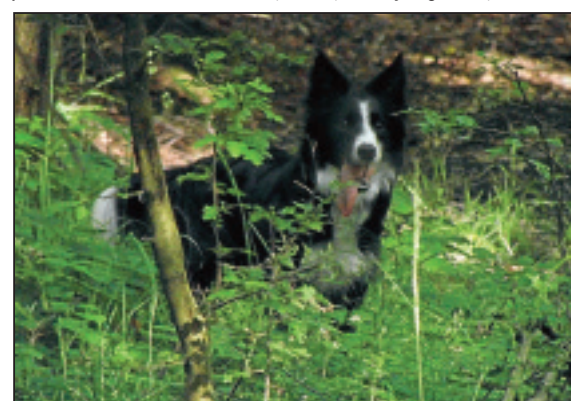

Pictures of life in the borough

ARE you a snazzy snapper, a lord of the lens or diva of the digital print? Think you can do better than these pictures? If you can, why not share your snaps of the borough?

There is no limit on the age or the subject – all we ask is that photos be as sharp and clear as possible and of reasonable quality for publication, featuring some area or aspect of Walsall and its life.

Send photos in with your name, address and contact number and a brief description of what the picture shows.

We would like to hear about any interesting tales or stories attached to the photograph. Send them in either as a hard copy or electronically and we will do the rest. So get those cameras snapping, dig out those dusty old albums and email them to walsallchronicle@expressandstar.co.uk or send them by post to Snappers Claim to Frame, Walsall Chronicle, Queen Street, Wolverhampton. WV1 1ES.

Have Your Say

Dudley and Walsall Mental Health Partnership NHS Trust (DWMHPT) is working to become an NHS Foundation Trust. Becoming a Foundation Trust will enable us to:

- Involve you in the running of your local mental health services
- Respond more flexibly to the needs of our communities
- Improve the quality of our services
- Be accountable to our members
- Improve understanding and awareness of mental health issues

As part of the application process, we will be consulting with you between August and October 2011. During this 12 week consultation, service users, carers, our staff and members of the public are encouraged to comment on any aspect of our services or proposals, such as:

- Proposals for our new name as a Foundation Trust
- Our plans and priorities as a Foundation Trust

We will be explaining our plans, listening to your opinions and answering questions through a variety of activities and hope you will join us at one of our public consultation meetings (see opposite) to learn more about the Trust and give us your views. We look forward to seeing you there.

Free design service for a new bathroom

A look at a bathroom before the design work begins

First - log on and ask

The result - B&Q's plan

THE new Ask a Designer app on B&Q's Facebook page offers a free bathroom design service, with a detailed rundown of how to recreate the look you want within the space, budget and time available.

You simply submit pictures of your bathroom and include details of what you'd like to achieve. B&Q's team of experts will choose the rooms most in need of a makeover and then come up with a design to fit the brief. There's also the chance to win £2,500 to spend on a new bathroom at B&Q.

And, from this month, the app will be available for kitchen makeovers as well. Submit your pictures to B&Q's page at www.facebook.com

Bosch has launched a really useful cordless cutting tool for DIY and more the new and improved Xeo 2.

Easy to manoeuvre, because it's small and light, the Xeo 2's also super simple to use - just take off the safety catch, grip the rubberised handle and press the trigger.

It's brilliant for lightweight cutting tasks, such as cutting wallpaper ready for hanging, and it powers through carpet (up to 6mm thick) and vinyl flooring in seconds.

The blade's self-sharpening, there's a safety guard to protect your fingers, and it's easy to see where you're cutting, which isn't always the case with power tools.

The Xeo 2 comes in a handy storage tin and costs £39.99 from B&Q.

For more details, see the www.bosch-do-it.co.uk website.

Makeover for your decking

YOUR garden deck's out there in the elements all year round, so get the most out of it this summer by giving it some TLC.

Before you start work on it, stock up at a DIY store on decking treatment, methylated spirits, fungicidal wash, a stiff broom, protective gloves and goggles, and a quality wood-stain brush.

Some decking treatments come with their own applicator, so you don't need a brush.

When you decide start work, begin by brushing off the decking with the broom to get rid of any remaining dirt and debris.

Use the fungicidal wash to remove any algae and mould, then wash the decking with warm soapy water or a pressure washer. Then leave it to dry.

Once it's dry, wipe over with a cloth dampened in methylated spirits, and it's advisable to wear the gloves and goggles when doing this and when using the fungicidal wash.

For a step-by-step guide to sprucing up your decking, download the www.sadolin.co.uk/homeowner podcast.

XF comes out fighting with new diesel engine

By Ian Donaldson

TALK about fighting with one hand tied behind your back. The smallest Jaguar saloon has spent its life so far without the engine most buyers wanted.

Now they can have it – and banish thoughts of BMWs and Audis to the other side of the company car park fence.

Say a big, warm hello to the Jaguar XF 2.2 litre diesel.

When the XF was launched in 2008 its svelte non-retro lines were a bit of a gamble for a company that traded for decades on hints of Labrador and gentlemen's clubs.

The gamble paid off, with interest, and XFs are now a common sight on UK roads.

Still worth a look as they pass, though.

Now, for 2011 comes an XF that's been mildly refreshed on the outside, with smoother lights front and rear and a new dashboard, more switches and reupholstered seats inside.

Much more important, there's now the choice of a smaller diesel engine. It's quite closely related to the unit you'll find in some Mondeos but has been reworked for its role in a Jag and bolted to a new automatic gearbox with no fewer than eight forward speeds.

Priced from a competitive £30,950, it will also appeal to company car drivers who have to take notice of its tailpipe pollution if they're not to be stung by the taxman. Road tax at just £125 won't hurt either.

Jaguar thinks so many buyers will go for this smallest diesel that it will soon become the biggest seller in the range, so untangling that hand behind the corporate back and letting the Coventry cat take on the rivals from Germany at last.

The new gearbox and a stop/start system that cuts the engine when the car is stationary (and, unfortunately, with your foot on the brakes) help the 2.2 XF record impressive economy in the official test: with better than 52mpg.

A brisk drive on testing roads around Jaguar's Gaydon headquarters near Warwick left my car showing 39.5mpg on its trip computer. That's an impressive real world figure for a car that simply asks to be driven.

Forget about diesels sounding loud and rough and producing hardly enough power to drag the skin off a rice pudding. In the latest XF we have a 187bhp diesel with a genuine performance feel – and the need to keep an eye on the speedometer to avoid the collection of points.

But the XF has even deeper charms. Without needing complicated and expensive suspension, the Jaguar engineers have produced a car that feels light on its toes and eager to tackle the next bend. It made me smile after the first bend and the grin never left my face, it's that impressive.

A little less so is the new interior, which still lacks the lounging room you might hope for in the rear. The new instrument panel uses some touches of blue where (the still unbeatable) white on black would have been easier to read.

At least there are now proper switches on the centre console below the big colour touchscreen to make choosing functions simpler; so sometimes more is less (confusing).

No complaints about the standard equipment, which includes xenon headlights, rear parking sensors and leather upholstery. Satellite navigation is a costly £2,050.

If you forget your new Jag is diesel-powered (not difficult), a petrol nozzle won't fit when you try to fill up. Clever, and potentially wallet saving.

No shortage of equipment in the restyled cabin

Two more Clios line up to join growing Gordini range

WEEKS after widening the Wind Roadster range to include an affordable 1.2-litre version, Renault has produced two extra Clios for the burgeoning Gordini line-up.

The Gordini range has proved a hit, and the Clio Gordini accounts for 27 per cent of overall Clio Renaultsport sales in Europe and over 10 per cent in the UK.

The latest incarnations of the Gordini badge debut in three-door form, with the petrol 1.6 VVT 128 and diesel 1.5 dCi 106.

They enable UK buyers to get the look and feel of the 200hp flagship Gordini, but with lower fuel consumption, emissions and running costs, including insurance. The petrol model welcomes the rev-loving engine from the former GT, itself slightly detuned from the Twingo Renaultsport 133. In the warmed over Clio, it gives performance of 0-62mph in 9.3 seconds, combined with 42.2mpg on the combined cycle. The Clio Gordini 128 costs £14,000 on-the-road.

The second version comes with the 1.5 dCi 106 and costs £14,950. Nippy thanks to compact dimensions and lively performance, the newcomer is just at home on the open road as it is in town, thanks to its standard six-speed gearbox. It is capable of 62.8mpg on the combined cycle, or at the other end of the performance spectrum, 119mph. Emitting only 110g CO₂, it is free from road fund licence and costs only £20 in the second year.

Whichever engine buyers choose, each version retains the usual Gordini styling.

Stripes

On the outside, it sports twin white racing stripes across the bonnet, roof and tailgate, co-ordinating white electric folding door mirrors and front bumper strip, Gordini badges, 16-inch Turini alloy wheels, body colour rear spoiler and twin tailpipe exhausts. Other external enhancements are body coloured side mouldings and door handles, extra tinted side and rear windows, front fog lights and fixed cornering lights.

On the inside, creature comforts abound. The Gordini touches begin with grey cloth upholstery with Gordini logo (grey or blue leather are optional and blue cloth is a no-cost option), leather steering wheel with grey detail and white stripe, satin chrome-effect gearknob with blue Gordini badge and black surround with satin chrome lever. Other elements include gloss black detailing for the centre console, dash and air vent surrounds, and a white rev counter.

Both newcomers come highly equipped with a 4x20W radio CD with aux input and fingertip remote controls, auto lights and wipers, climate control, cruise control, front curtain airbags and speed limiter.

The two new versions can be upgraded with several options, including Camminat TomTom satellite navigation, multi-functional TunePoint or electric panoramic sunroof. Metallic paint comes in Malta Blue, Pearl Black and Ruby Red. The standard body colour, Glacier White, features contrasting anthracite grey Gordini racing stripes, door mirrors and front bumper insert.

Triumph puts a tank in the Tiger

By Bob Hickman

SADLY I am of an age to remember when Triumph produced a 750cc Tiger.

At the time I borrowed one from the old Co-operative Triumph factory and competed in off-road competitions.

It was based on the good old-fashioned parallel twin engine and it did its job.

It shook itself to pieces with vibration and was never the most reliable but it did win me a few pots.

When I had the opportunity to test the latest Triumph Tiger from the Hinckley factory I grabbed it with relish.

Triumph has identified a gap in the market.

They saw BMW and Honda were doing very nicely with people who wanted to buy an off-road style bike without necessarily wanting to ride it that way – a bit like people who buy 4x4s but never venture off-road.

A bike that could be used for commuting, touring and semi-off-road would have appeal so the Triumph Tiger 800cc is produced as two variants.

I tested the road-biased version. With its 19" cast wheels it is an all-round useable machine. Then there is the off-road version that has a 21" spoked front wheel, much longer suspension and different tyres.

Triumph has been loyal to the three-cylinder concept and the engine fitted to the Tiger was a little gem.

It was almost linear in its power production: with fuel injection, gone are the days of fiddling with chokes to get that initial start then a reliable tick-over.

It has a capacity of 799cc; and Triumph has not stifled the unique and wonderful sound of the three-cylinder with the exhaust set up.

It is said to produce 94bhp at 9,300 revs with a reasonable amount of torque at mid-range. Triumph suggests a top speed of 130mph should be achievable and the 4.2-gallon tank should give a range of about 200 miles.

Sports

The Tiger is a tall bike. I am just over six feet with long legs so for me it was perfect.

The sports screen fits in front of the instrumentations and at first I thought it was a bit gimmicky, but to my amazement 70mph cruising on the motorway showed that it worked.

The aerodynamic effect of hanging on to a high set of handlebars was diminished and it actually kept some of the rain off.

The bike is a very agile performer, belying the fact that it is an 800cc, and the weight distribution is perfect.

Performance from the first twist of the throttle all the way through the six gears is excellent.

Acceleration is very brisk, the gearbox is a delight and very easy to use. Clutchless changes could quite easily be made up or down the box.

One aspect of the derivative I rode was that it doesn't like off-road performing. Bennetts Lane runs by the A454 near the outskirts of Wolverhampton towards Pittingham.

It starts off very narrow, gets narrower with grass in the middle, then degenerates into a farm track, and the last quarter of a mile is a stream bed.

It is an education and difficult to ride. The pebbles had been polished so high, that the bike at times struggled to find grip and it was sideways as much as it was pointing forward. But it proved a point.

It is possible to tackle a "green lane" but you need to concentrate and show the bike who is boss.

With the tall seat configuration the smaller statured may struggle if they venture too far off-road. Having said that, it was just an exercise because Triumph is promoting this as a dual-purpose bike.

Handling on road was brilliant and the power belied how big this bike is.

It was almost like riding a small 250cc and the big wide bars were a bonus in town.

It is a bike Triumph should justifiably be proud of and BMW with the 800cc GS and Honda with the Transalp should be concerned.

Fuel consumption in the mid-40s is not to be scoffed at and the big fuel tank means no need to be paranoid about running out of fuel on the motorway.

My own bike is a 10-year old Pan European, so I am out of touch with what modern motor cycles now add as standard.

I was surprised to find the instrumentation on the Triumph comprised a digital speedometer with a conventional analogue tach, a clock and a digital display of gear selection – useful with a six-speed gearbox. Two trip displays, as in a car, are useful too.

Distance

It has an average speed, and fuel consumption display, a fuel gauge and, again copied from the car world, distance remaining with the amount of fuel on board.

These were all easy features and the buttons were sensible and simple to operate with gloves.

Triumph expects to sell at least 7,000 of these bikes worldwide.

I can't see any reason it shouldn't achieve that, because once you have ridden it you realise just how good both the bike and concept are. My only reservation is the lack of luggage space.

With a price from £7,149, on sale now, I can see nothing but success for Triumph and this new bike.

Kia takes the honours in brand design competition

Sketches submitted by Peter Schreyer for the new Automotive Brand contest

KIA MOTORS is one of the main winners in the first Automotive Brand Contest. This new international brand and design competition was organised by the German Design Council.

The judging panel declared Kia Motors the worthy winner in four categories.

For the exterior category, in which the design of the vehicle itself is the centre of attention, three Kia models were picked as winners: The compact Sportage SUV, the forthcoming Rio (on sale from September) and the new, athletic D-segment Kia Optima sedan.

Peter Schreyer, Kia's chief designer said, "We are all exceedingly proud that Kia Motors has done so well in this new competition, which is very important within the automotive industry. By changing our basic design focus, we have given our brand a face, a distinctive identity."

Category

In the brand design category, where strategy and focus of the brand's overall design is rated, Kia was ranked "Best of Best".

Schreyer said: "The Best of Best title for Kia's new design identity in the brand design category is a great endorsement of the creative and professional work done by our entire international design team. The latest awards conferred on the Sportage and Optima, and the very first one to go to our latest model, the Rio, reflect the continuity of our efforts to uphold our own high design standards.

"All four awards are a fantastic acknowledgement of our strategy to position design as a core Kia brand promise," he said.

The German Design Council, organiser of the newly instituted Automotive Brand Contest, was founded in 1953 as an initiative of the German Federal Parliament, and now counts among the world's leading centres of excellence for communication and knowledge transfer in the field of design.

Korean brand spearheads UK relaunch with the 4x4 Korando

Styled by Giorgetto Giugiaro, the Korean car has European looks

SSANGYONG is ready to return to the UK with a range of high quality, top value models.

Leading the Korean brand's relaunch in September will be the new Korando crossover, offering European styling, superb versatility and efficient engineering from £16,995.

Designed for the fast growing crossover sector, the Korando offers the high riding position and all-weather, off-road ability many drivers look for as well as compact dimensions, low emissions and affordable running costs. SsangYong's advantageous pricing and comprehensive specification gives the new Korando best-in-class value compared with the Hyundai ix35, Kia Sportage, Mitsubishi ASX and Nissan Qashqai.

The key to its appeal is the renowned Italian car designer responsible for the SsangYong's looks - Giorgetto Giugiaro of Italdesign. Muscular yet svelte, the bodywork embraces a monocoque platform to give highly competent off-road handling with on-road refinement.

With the practicality of a 4x4/SUV and the accessibility of a family hatchback, Korando can go from muddy campsite to motorway, icy country lane to urban school run in complete comfort.

Paul Williams, CEO of the UK importer, SsangYong Motor UK, said: "Korando is a great value proposition, and arrives in the highly competitive crossover market at absolutely the right time."

Clever

Very keenly priced, a comprehensive list of standard equipment, excellent towing capability and thanks to its long wheelbase a spacious and airy interior, Korando is the clever choice for families and those who tow a caravan, horsebox or trailer.

SsangYong will offer a choice of trim, two gearboxes and front or four-wheel drive. All models are powered by an advanced 173bhp 2.0-litre four-cylinder turbo diesel engine producing 360Nm of torque with CO2 emissions from 157g/km.

The Korando has an on-demand four-wheel-drive system which constantly monitors the level of grip available and distributes power to the wheels that need it most.

Under normal conditions 100 per cent of the engine's torque drives the front wheels so the car can run with the efficiency of a family hatchback.

If the front tyres begin to lose traction, power is fed to the rear wheels to ensure safe, stable and dependable progress is resumed.

An all-wheel-drive lock mode delivers a 50/50 spread of torque between front and rear wheels at speeds up to 25mph, essential for low speed traction and control, such as when driving up a slippery track or off a sodden field towing a caravan or horsebox.

With a choice of six-speed manual or automatic transmissions, buyers can opt for S or ES trim in front-wheel-drive, or top of the range EX specification in four-wheel-drive. The entry level variant comes with cruise control and ESP with Hill Start Assist.

NOTICE TO READERS
Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a puppy farmer.
1. Try to ensure you visit the puppy whilst it is still with it's Mother.
2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.
3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree.
Whist Midland News Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy Farmers who cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

Adam Chambers (centre) is sent off against Boro

Hero to villain as Adam red card kills cup hope

ADAM Chambers' 12th minute red card ended the Saddlers' League Cup hopes as soon as they had begun and the goal hero against Orient got his marching orders.

Rookie boss Dean Smith is on a steep learning curve. It was his team's first competitive game against a side from a higher level and, while they cracked, they didn't disgrace themselves. The much-vaunted character was evident as they refused to capitulate to a Boro side who smelled a hatful of goals.

Marvin Emnes' hat-trick may have exposed them but Walsall weren't overawed – they just weren't as good. They won't face a team who pass and move so swiftly as Boro in League One.

From defeat, like in victory, a little perspective is needed. There won't be any outcry of anger, just one of disappointment as another shot at a cup run disappears.

Defeat is a hit and it leaves another gaping hole in the Saddlers' calendar and finances but not a surprising one.

That Smith's team failed to capitulate after Chambers walked will be of some comfort, as will the debuts of George Bow-erman and Anton Peterlin.

Midfielder Peterlin showed enough to suggest he can replace Chambers, even if the Saddlers' central three worked over-time, while striker Bowerman was lively.

Overtime

The team lacks a serious 'string-puller' in the middle, a man who can add both dynamism and continuity, and they are still a striker light.

It is too much to pile all hope on the absent Will Grigg, away with Northern Ireland Under-21s, and it will take Ryan Jarvis time to rediscover his form.

With Alex Nicholls only used as an auxiliary forward a quick striker would give the Saddlers an extra dimension.

Walsall: Walker, Westlake, Lancashire, Butler, Sadler, Gnappa (Peterlin 15), Chambers, Taundry, Hurst, Jarvis (Bowerman 81); Macken (Nichols 46).

Middlesbrough: Coyne, McMahon, McManus, Hines, Bennett, Hoyte, Bailey (Park, 64), Martin, Smallwood; Emnes (Williams, 56), Zemmama (Miller, 20)

Boys hit six of the very best

WEDNESFIELD Boys got off to a flier in the Walsall Monday six-side top flight, hitting CHAFC for six with just one in reply. Jay Alcroft put in a man of the match display.

Scalers FC also started with a jolt as Ken Cartwright pulled the strings in a 5-1 drubbing of Bloxwich Youth. Luke Fox and Aaron Goodall were in fine form in Division One for Bloxwich Beats and Louis Autos FC as they eased past FC Basil Fawley and FC Copenbadly 4-0 respectively.

Ash Smith took the plaudits for Sneyd Originals in the final tier in an 8-0 hammering, while Dan Valletta starred for Bayer Never-lusen as they humbled Bloxwich All Stars by five goals to one.

Momentum

Bren Dawes was the stand out performer for Singh's Six who humbled Youth Harted 10-3.

Shower Dan FC recorded a commanding 6-3 triumph over Sportif Beacon. Lokomotiv Kajal will be hoping their 8-0 thrashing of B Tidy FC will get their First Division season on track, while West Midlands Rangers had a convincing 5-2 defeat of Inter Ya.

University Stars were in free-scoring form, hitting Beacon Boys for six who could only reply with one, Toby Roy taking the plaudits. Call 0845 230 2340 or visit www.leisureleagues.net for details on the league.

Title chance for Mad Dog Maxx

A WHIRLWIND professional wrestling tour touches down in Walsall next week.

And on an evening full of international super-stars, it will be a Walsall lad who gets his chance at the big time.

Matt Powell who goes by the ring name of Mad Dog Maxx, aged 26, from Fullbrook, Walsall, will challenge for the Great British Wrestling Heavyweight Championship.

"I'm thrilled not only to receive my title shot, but also that it is going to take place in Walsall, my home town," says Mad Dog.

The event takes place on Friday 26th August, at The Saddlers Club, Bank's Stadium, Bescot Cres, Walsall, WS1 4TS. Doors open at 7pm with the show starting at 7.30pm. Tickets are £5 each or £17.50 for a family of four. For details call 07885 763 966.

Ref's penalty blunder topples unlucky Wood

WALSALL WOOD 0 EARLSWOOD TOWN 1

A REFEREEING howler six minutes from time gifted the new boys their second win of the season, but to be brutally honest Wood should have been so far in front that the decision should have only given the visitors a consolation goal.

A quick ball out of defence by Wood after four minutes was won by Mark Bandurak on the left of the Town box, but under pressure he finished weakly.

Another ball over the top of the Town defence put them in trouble, keeper Jake Belford just flicking the ball away from Jordan Nadat, but only as far as Bandurak 25 yards out, who hit a first time effort well wide.

On 18 minutes Scott Devlin collected a ball wide on the left, he cut inside two players and hit a rising drive inches over the far angle.

Back came Wood and after 22 minutes a left wing throw in was shielded across the face of the box by Scott Cooper before he turned and fired just over the bar.

Wood should have gone behind on 29 minutes. Django Farrell crossed into the right of the box, Devlin cushioned a header down into the path of Christi Conway on the penalty spot and he shot wide.

Neat link up play by Mark Woodbridge on 33 minutes saw him find Cooper to turn on and fire well wide. On 45 minutes, Woodbridge was flattened on the left of the box, Nadat fired in the free kick to the near post and Woodbridge's first time effort brought a great full length save from Belford.

Fortuitous

The first chance of the second half on 49 minutes saw Bandurak hit a left to right ball to find Woodbridge, who ghosted away from his marker but lost his balance as he was about to shoot. Two minutes later, good work by Cooper in midfield saw him put Woodbridge in on goal, but Richard Prosser blocked his shot.

On 59 minutes Woodbridge's first time ball put Nadat away. He went through two tackles and his low drive was pushed away by Belford.

Torgut Bilgimer, on half-way, delivered the ball back into the box, Sean Wallis raced in behind the defence and his first time drive was touched onto the post by Belford.

Then, on 84 minutes Andrew Rowe chased a ball wide of the box on the right and ran across Chris Lewis who clipped his ankle. Rowe took two steps, realised he wasn't going to get the ball and fell over. Somehow, the referee adjudged it a penalty – amazing really because at no time in the move had Rowe entered the box. Farrell fired the penalty home to give Earlswood a fortuitous win.

Wood could feel hard done to lose all three points. They could have had six goals for the time the referee got it so horribly wrong. A pity really, because he'd had a good game.

Saddlers so proud of their trophy cabinet

Former glories – the packed trophy cabinet at the Saddlers

WALSALL boss Dean Smith is chasing more silverware this season, but the Saddlers already have a packed trophy cabinet.

The club's last major trophy – the 2007 League Two title – sits proudly on the top shelf after Richard Money guided the Saddlers back to League One at the first attempt.

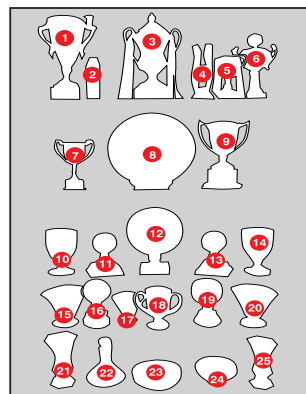

It sits next to the old Division Two play-off trophy in the season when the Saddlers last won promotion to the Championship in 2001, thanks to a dramatic extra-time winner from Darren Byfield.

Stadium

Also on the top shelf is the English Riviera Cup which the youth team won in 2004, and the Walsall Business of the Year award, also from 2004.

Below them is the Harry Timmins

1: English Riviera Cup 2004; 2: Business of the Year 2004; 3: Division 2 winners 2001; 4: Coca Cola league winners 2007; 5: Tarmac New Deal trophy; 6: Int. Jeugdtoernooi 1997; 7: Harry Timmins Memorial Trophy; 8: Nationwide Division 2 runners-up trophy 1999; 9: Midlands midweek league cup; 10: Jevson 4th division award winners 1992; 11: Auto Windscreens Shield area semi final 1997; 12: Jeugdtoernooi 1996 fair play trophy; 13: Auto Windscreens second round trophy 1996; 14: Jevson 3rd division Excellence award 1993; 15: BHS-T SFA England 1983; 16: Walsall v Villa 1990; 17: BHS-T SFA 1959; 18: Milk Cup outstanding achievement 1983-84; 19: League Managers Association performance of the week March 2011; 20: BHS-T SFA 1965; 21: Jevson Family Football Excellence national winner 1994; 22: Performance of the Week Wolves 1 Walsall 2 (1999); 23: 75th anniversary of the Football League; 24: Award presented to Terry Ramsden; 25: Jevson Family Football Excellence, 3rd division award winners.

Memorial Trophy, the Nationwide Division Two runners-up trophy from when Ray Graydon led the Saddlers to a shock promotion in 1999.

Among the silverware on the third and fourth rows is the Auto Windscreens Shield area semi final going from 1997, the Jevson Award from 1992, and a cup to mark the first game at the new Bank's Stadium which was played in 1990 against Villa.

Walsall go down to defeat by 5 wickets

BIRMINGHAM LEAGUE

HIMLEY maintained their title challenge with a crushing nine-wicket win over West Bromwich Dartmouth.

Skipper Stuart Wedge recorded 5-28 to skittle the home side out for 149 – before Chris Tranter (75 not out) and Wasim Jaffer (74 not out) guided Himley to 152-1.

Walsall lost to Barnet Green by five wickets despite Paul Byrne's 64 and 60 from Christiaan Jonker as they posted 208-9.

Barnet Green hit 212-5 to maintain their 16-point lead over Himley, and Wolverhampton enjoyed a three-wicket win over Knowle and Dorridge. Dan Bowyer's side lifted themselves out of the bottom two at Moseley's expense. They bowled the visitors out for 215 with Aaron Jeavons taking 4-37. The Staffordshire ace also hit 64 with Simon Lycett's unbeaten 44 guiding Wolverhampton to a win.

Blow

Smethwick's hopes suffered a blow after they crashed to defeat at Leamington. Smethwick hit 180 before Leamington posted 182-7 in reply.

Kidderminster Victoria are still looking over their shoulders after a four-wicket defeat at home to Wellington. Kiddy finished 212-9 but Wellington hit 216-6.

Old Hill slumped to an eight-wicket defeat at Dorridge. They hit 195-9 with Jared Daniel post scoring with an unbeaten 51 but Dorridge cruised to 198-2.

Wombourne enjoyed a 152-run win over Evesham. They posted 322-6 thanks to Karl Quiney's 100 and bowled Evesham out for 170 to complete the victory.

In Division Two, Halesowen claimed a losing draw to Whit-church despite seeing their opponents declare on 322 without loss.

Halesowen held on at 243-8 thanks to Asif Khan (80) and Hasan Qamari (50). Fordhouses had a one-wicket victory at Eastnor who were dismissed for 145. Cannock's Connor Shingler hit the winning run off the last ball to secure a two-wicket win against Bridgnorth who had posted 247-9. Jake Lehmann's 109 helped Cannock to 248-8.

In Division Three Brewood lost to Barnard's Green, Lichfield went down to Sutton Coldfield and Wednesbury lost by three wickets at Colehill. Penn claimed a losing draw at Tamworth.

Brilliant centurions on losing side

BLOXWICH first team captain Danny King lost the toss and Springvale opted for Bloxwich to bat, writes Rachael Baker.

There wasn't a good start to the first innings for Bloxwich, with the first wicket falling in the fifth over. Pirmjit Singh scored an impressive 109 runs but Aaron Alcock not to be outdone knocked up an amazing 114, which brought Bloxwich's total up to 296 runs for 6 wickets off 42 overs. Having reached a great target Bloxwich's captain decided to declare as his batsmen had done a great job.

The second innings started off a little slower for Bloxwich but they did manage to keep all spectators on the edge of their seats.

There was a fight for dominance out in the field in the second innings as Springvale batted well and Bloxwich were swift in the field.

Sharp catches from Aaron Alcock and Lee Bates backed up the bowling attack of Alcock, Lee Bates, Singh and King whom all took a wicket each.

Jeremy Scott returned after taking a break and took three wickets.

However Springvale won with 297 runs for 7 wickets off 57 overs.

Couzens 64 not enough

WALSALL 2nd XI won the toss at Old Hill and elected to bowl on a wicket which looked a little bit green but Old Hill's batsmen made light of this and steadily accumulated runs.

Joe Thorn and Alex Hills put together an opening stand of 40 and then Nick Couzens (64) and Connor Smith (63) came together and a partnership of 121 helped towards a total of 233-6 as the 50 overs were completed.

In reply, Walsall soon found themselves staring defeat in the face as they slumped to 47-5 in the 17th over with a blast of three wickets from Dan Jones.

The visitors put up the shutters but the hosts stuck to their task as Dan Such, Connor Smith Jack Ellis Nick Couzens and Jon Baig chipped away at Walsall.

With the last pair in, Jones returned to grab the last wicket with seven balls

Bragging rights go to Walsall in derby

WALSALL Golf Club claimed local bragging rights with an emphatic 15-9 victory against Bloxwich to retain the Baffly Trophy, writes Jason White.

The two-day contest last weekend was as keenly fought as ever, but Walsall never looked likely to surrender the 10-2 advantage that they forged on Saturday.

Broadway played host to the Ryder Cup event on day one and stand-in skipper Mark Hateley and assistant professional Ian Proverbs served notice of Walsall's intent with a polished 4&3 victory in the opening foursomes.

That success set the tone, with John Whitehouse and Freddie Sheridan Mills (6&5), Dan Sutton and Adam Fray (4&3), Grant Guffogg and Lewis Pearce (5&4) and James Mercurio and Dave Mercurio (4&3) ensuring the hosts claimed 5.5 of the first six points on offer.

Bloxwich rolled up their sleeves in the afternoon fourballs but still ended the day eight points adrift.

Cornerstone

Winners for Walsall were Pearce and Sutton (2&1), Henry Sheridan Mills and Fray (1 hole) and James Mercurio and Freddie Sheridan Mills (2&1).

Sunday's renewal at Bloxwich gave the hosts an opportunity to regain some pride and lost ground, and they did just that with a 7-5 victory in the singles.

The highlights for Walsall were 5&4 victories for Freddie Sheridan Mills and Pearce.

The result was a welcome boost for Walsall's scratch team after their disappointing five-and-a-half to two and a half defeat at Ladbroke Park last week which left their Midlands Division One title hopes hanging by a thread.

Also at Walsall, the prestigious President's Cup was claimed by Mike Deeming with an impressive net score of 65. Birdies at six and seven were the cornerstone of his round.

The recent Midweek Stableford was won by Dave Watkin with a 40-point return in breezy conditions.

New talents can lift rugby season

WALSALL will start their league season when they travel to Bedworth on the first Saturday of next month, writes Arnold Evans.

Meanwhile, this Saturday they have a training camp at the club. They then travel to Bridgnorth on Saturday, August 27, for a pre-season match.

They have a few new players involved this season including Russ Gauden – a prop forward who played for played Dudley Kingswinford when they were in the National League.

An exciting acquisition is Rafael Ingelmo, a 24-year-old centre from Jaen, Spain.

Experience

The club also welcomes back Dave Merlin, a No 8 who has vast experience at National League level, having played for Worcester and Walsall at that level.

Another prospect, John Petty, returns to the club after three years at university.

A young player who made an impressive contribution at the end of last season is Alex Greenslade. He has recovered from his shoulder injury and hopes to be available for the start of the season.

Meanwhile, there is a fund raising day for the British Heart Foundation on Sun 28th August, with Walsall Vets and the Under 16's playing Bloxwich, as well as a range of entertainment. The following day at the club it is a family day with rides/stalls.

SMITH HAPPY AS RED MIST CLEARS

Hartlepool 1 Walsall 1

NO FANFARE, no parade but a point at Hartlepool represents Walsall's unwavering, if unspectacular progress this year. This result at a venue where they have been so recently wretched is significant.

Saturday's draw at Hartlepool – the awful dismissal of Andy Butler aside – shows just where the Saddlers are heading under Dean Smith. The steady upward curve of the last eight months continues.

Walsall can be a finishing school for ambitious young managers. Succeed with a lack of cash, a high turnover of players and the odd protest against the chairman and you can succeed anywhere.

And Smith has had to learn fast. The crash course in management that was last season enhanced his reputation but also added a modicum of extra pressure.

Coming in half way through a season, he got the desired reaction. Now, with his own team, the inquisition of his skills really starts. Smith's start has been promising – four points from two games and a top six spot in the embryonic table.

League One still has its smattering of big boys but, in the main, is littered with also-rans who all believe they can mount a promotion charge. There is no chip on the Saddlers' shoulder, they know they are among the 'have nots', but with just three 100 per cent records in the division the 'haves' aren't ones to fear.

For years their fabled inconsistency has been an Achilles heel which hampered any attempts to progress. The signs are there though that Smith and his management team have begun to rectify it.

To succeed in League One there is no need to be spectacular. Organisation and consistency is key – two of the attributes the Saddlers are threatening to display.

Smith said: "It was a good performance. The lads gave me everything, worked hard for each other, used the ball well and got into some dangerous areas, particularly in the first half. We restricted them to just a few chances and it was a pretty even game with two determined teams going at each other.

"In the end a draw was probably a fair result and it makes it an unbeaten start from our first two games.

It's important to win our home games and then come away to places like this and battle out points."

Smith added: "It was nice to see us finally get a penalty and Jon Macken took it really well. Their goal was a freakish one."

It's too early to start claiming all the ills are fixed, although many of them have, and full judgement must be reserved for another couple of months. But there is a serious sense of stability within the team.

Richard Taundry and Oliver Lancashire excelled without their senior playing partners of the suspended Adam Chambers and the unfortunate Butler at Victoria Park.

Bizarre

Question marks hung over the pair last season but they marshalled the midfield and defence expertly.

The FA should do the decent thing and rescind Andy Butler's card. The captain went into a typically full-blooded challenge with Nathan Luscombe five minutes before the break and was astonishingly dismissed.

Luscombe – who launched in off the ground – followed to ease the frustration.

Two dismissals in two games – for a couple of their most potent performers – inevitably leads to questions about discipline. With eight yellows in their three outings this season the argument about the Saddlers' over-eagerness is strengthened – but there is no problem.

The dismissals capped a fiery game which saw two goals in the opening five minutes – including the Saddlers' first penalty for almost two years.

Just three minutes had gone when Paul Murray's high foot on Mat Sadler had Tierney pointing to the spot – allowing Jon Macken to roll in his first of the season.

But the celebrations were short-lived as a rare error from Jimmy Walker two minutes later saw him fumble Scott Flinders' long clearance and Colin Nish tapped in.

It was left for referee Tierney to take centre stage with his bizarre double sending off.

Walsall: Walker, Westlake, Lancashire, Butler, Taundry, Sadler, Gnacka (Jarvis 77), Peterlin (Beever 82), Hurst, Grigg, Macken (Nicholls 60). Booked: Macken, Taundry, Gnacka. Sent off: Butler.

Hartlepool: Flinders, Austin, Hartley, Collins, Horwood (Humphreys, 85), Solano (Luscombe, 21), Liddle, Murray, Monkhouse; Nish, Boyd (Poole, 59). Booked: Horwood, Hartley. Sent off: Luscombe.

Attendance: 5,170. Referee: Paul Tierney (Lancashire).

WORK-LIFE QUALIFICATIONS (VOCATIONAL)

Contact the Community Team to confirm timing, duration and cost of a specific course.

Vocational Education and Qualifications explained

Vocational qualifications can be very useful stepping-stones to many careers. There is a mounting demand for flexible, highly skilled workers who do not necessarily need to have a degree or A-levels.

Employers are advocating courses that equip people with the skills and attitudes that build business, and are recruiting those who have work experience or occupational training.

Qualifications can be classified into three types – general, vocational and occupational. General qualifications are focused on a specific subject, for example, school GCSE's. Vocational qualifications provide a broad introduction to a particular vocational area such as manufacturing, art and design, or health and social care. Occupational qualifications are related to a specific job and are based on the knowledge and skills needed in that career. Many people combine different types of qualification to suit their own goals.

Advice and Guidance Level 3 and 4

If your job involves helping and advising others, these qualifications can help you develop your skills and progress at work. You'll cover topics from administration and referrals to providing advice, guidance and information services.

There are options to suit any level, from people working in administrative roles to those with a great deal of experience as advisors.

An OCR qualification is proof that you have the right skills to do your job well - which is why so many employers look for people who have one. You can be confident your qualification is well respected within your industry.

Support Teaching and Learning in Schools Level 2 and 3

These NVQs are designed to reflect the work of candidates who provide direct support for teaching and learning in any type of school – primary, secondary, special or pupil referral units, at Level 2 and 3.

It covers the traditional teaching assistant role but has been broadened in scope to include new roles and responsibilities such as cover supervision, exam invigilation, pastoral care and others.

The level 2 NVQ (NQF) could be used by volunteer workers within the schools provided they cover sufficient breadth of responsibilities for supporting teaching and learning.
